

GERMAN PLEA PUTS PROBLEM UP TO LEAGUE

Effort to Have Covenant Modified Is Expected to Bring Interpretation

SETTLES U. S. QUESTIONS

Berlin Puts Economic Force Issue Squarely Before Geneva Body

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Copyright 1924 by the Post Pub. Co.
Washington, D. C.—Germany's effort to have the covenant of the league of nations modified so as to permit her to have freedom of action as well as freedom from obligation to preserve peace by physical or economic force is regarded here as likely to give the Americans who have been debating the subject their first concrete idea of what the league really means.

From the first the United States has balked at the thought that the league might, if America joined, involve a moral obligation to use force.
The league itself did not interpret its covenant on that point and American entrance to the league to a large extent has been prevented by that fact.

Now Germany's request will bring forth a definite expression not only of the opinion of the league but a treaty between Germany and the league which defines the limit of Germany's obligations.

WILL BEAR OUT OPPOSITION

Should the league insist that Germany must agree to use physical or economic force when some nation has been unanimously declared by the council to have violated the covenant and broken the peace of the world then the anti-league debaters in the United States will feel that their long fight against American entrance was well worth while and that the "irreconcilable" viewpoint was absolutely right.

Should the league, on the other hand, admit Germany and give her the right to act as she pleases with respect to assistance in a military way, the biggest argument made against American admission will have been punctured.

Germany's contention that Article 16 of the covenant which outlines the penalties to be imposed on a state breaking its pledges or carrying on a state of aggression may bring on a way of aggression may bring on a state of war is an interesting sequel to the debate in the American senate for the Berlin government says plainly that a blockade or embargo will imply a state of war and Germany wishes to speak in such a manner that she may remain neutral. This is the first time the rights of neutrals have been brought into play in connection with Article 16 and it will mean a great deal of discussion by the international lawyers before the German viewpoint is answered fully.

U. S. DEPT. INTERESTED

The United States will watch the debate with more than passing interest because with the league controversy moribund so far as political parties are concerned, there may come a time when the pendulum will swing in another direction and if Germany has secured an agreement with the league conditioning her membership on certain reservations the American government would be able to demand the same thing.

From the viewpoint of the league,
however, the question will be answered not so much with the thought of placating Germany or saving the latter a special position. It will be a matter of self preservation for Europe. Will the peace of Europe be preserved if the implied obligations of Article 16 and Article 17 are retained and Germany is left outside the league, or will the organization be strengthened by modifying the covenant so as ultimately to make it possible for Germany and the United States to enter? Thus far the league has shown every disposition to want America and Germany admitted but the making of a special case means that other nations may ask to be relieved of the obligations to preserve peace by economic force, Germany has put the issue squarely before the league.

GREEN BAY VETS WIN
FIGHT CLUB LICENSE

Green Bay—Difficulties between the Sullivan post, American Legion and the state athletic commission arising from a proposed boxing entertainment scheduled to be held under the auspices of the legion Tuesday night, in defiance of a ruling of the commission, was amicably settled over the long distance telephone late tertainment was called off and the local post was given the assurance that it would be granted a boxing club license.

REDS' ATTEMPT TO TAKE OVER RUSS CHURCH FAILS

By Associated Press

New York—The attempt of the Soviet Russia to take over control of the Russian church and its properties here, failed Wednesday
when State Supreme Court Justice Ford upheld the claim of the Metropolitan Platon Roltzovsky to the leadership of the Russian Greek Catholic church in North America and the Aleutian Islands.

MEMORIES OF CALVIN JR. DULL CHRISTMAS JOYS OF COOLIDGES

Washington, D. C.—Memories of Christmases in other years before the family circle was broken crowded in upon President and Mrs. Coolidge Wednesday as they prepared for their second Christmas in the White House.

With the approach of the holiday bringing fresh reminders of the loss of Calvin, the younger son, who in years past contributed much to the season's merriment, the preparations made were with a view to the simplest observance.
There will be no Christmas tree and no guests other than Mr. and Mrs. Frank Stearns of Boston, who arrived Wednesday.

DOUBT TYPHOID CAUSED DEATH OF MCCLINTOCK

Body of Millionaire Orphan Will Be Exhumed to Search for Poison

By Associated Press
Chicago—The body of William McClintock, the millionaire orphan, will be exhumed to determine whether typhoid fever killed him
three weeks ago while Miss Isabelle Pope, his fiancée, waited futilely at his bedside.

Robert B. Tracy, states attorney, and Coroner Oscar Wolfe, who have started an exhaustive inquiry into his death at the instance of Harry Olson, chief justice of the municipal court, said pathologists will make a special search for poison or other foreign matter in the vital organs.

The death occurred a few months after McClintock had become a successful stockholder in the J. W. Wells Lumber Co. and taken possession of a fortune left him by his mother when he was four years old. In his will, signed a few days after he became of age, the entire estate was left to Wm. D. Shepherd, an attorney whose wife was the youth's co-guardian with A. E. Richmond, also an attorney. The death occurred at the J. W. Wells Lumber Co. here Tuesday afternoon. McClintock had lived with the Shepherds since his mother's death and died at their home. According to Dr.
Tufus B. Stolp, who signed the death certificate, a severe case of hemorrhagic typhoid was the cause, probably contracted from eating oysters.

START PROBE OF BOY FOUND HANGED

Ravenna, Mich.—Muskegon officials are investigating the death of a boy, Floyd Blauvelt, 14, son of Floyd Blauvelt, a farmer living near here whose body was found in a deserted shack near the farm home Tuesday.

The boy apparently was strangled.
He was found with his neck caught in a rope. His knees touching the floor. In view of the fact that the rope was too long to permit the boy to swing free officers are inclined to believe the boy might have been the victim of foul play. Examination of the body has failed to reveal a mark or bruise of any kind, according to Dr. W. H. Tisdie of Ravenna.

The boy's father and mother said Tuesday night that they could not describe any reason for him wanting to end his life.

WAUSAU CHARITIES GIVE POOR MERRY CHRISTMAS

Wausau—Two hundred baskets filled with eatables, including canned goods, candies, fruit, chickens and other meats were distributed Wednesday by the Federated Charities through the H. V. club to worthy needy families for their Christmas celebration. The gift was paid from the Record Herald's annual Christmas fund which this year totaled about $500 in addition to many donations of candies, fruits and meats by business houses.

Medieval Pomp Marks Opening Of Holy Door

Rome—Pope Pius XI, surrounded by the splendor of the medieval pageantry customary for such occasions, Wednesday proclaimed from the Vatican the twenty-third Holy year in the history of the papacy and performed the picturesque ceremony of knocking down the holy door of the basilica of St. Peter's with the symbolic solid gold hammer.
The pontiff thus initiated a series of ceremonies which are expected to attract to Rome during the ensuing year millions of pilgrims from all over the world.
The regal magnificence of Wednesday's ceremony, the richness of the pontifical robes, the multicolored uniforms of the various branches of the Vatican forces, and the draperies and canopies that lent gorgeous color to the general background left a panop-y of solemn grandeur imprinted on

LIFE TERM IS SENTENCE FOR INA PREACHER

Elsie Sweetin Gets 35 Year Term When Jury Finds Her Guilty

Mount Vernon, Ill.—Jury trying Lawrence M. Hight and Mrs. Elsie Sweetin for the poison murder of her husband, Wilford Sweetin, early Wednesday returned a verdict of "guilty." Hight was given life imprisonment, while Mrs. Sweetin was given 35 years in the penitentiary.
After deliberating all night the jury reported at 8:30 Wednesday morning that it had reached an agreement.
The judge and attorneys immediately were sent for. Reports said that the jury had been in disagreement over the degree of guilt.

The jury had deliberated about eleven hours retiring at 10 o'clock Tuesday night. It considered the case almost continuously during the night and Wednesday morning except for a short time for breakfast. The jurors stated after the verdict that the jury had been unanimous for finding both defendants guilty from the first ballot, but that there had been wide difference as to the punishment to be inflicted upon Mrs. Sweetin. The punishment inflicted upon her, the jurors said, represented a compromise.

Only two of the jurors had favored infliction of the death penalty upon Hight. None voted for the hanging of Mrs. Sweetin.

The two defendants received the verdict in silence and with no outward display of emotion.

Attorneys for both defendants gave formal notice that they would ask for a new trial.

SEEK VAGRANT AS FIREBUG SUSPECT

Strong Odor of Kerosene Strengthens Suspicions of Incendiarism

Menominee, Mich.—Investigation into the incident incendiary origin of a $350,000 fire at the plant of the J.
W. Wells Lumber Co. here Tuesday was centered Wednesday in tracing the whereabouts of the mysterious vagrant who late Monday afternoon bought shingles in the boiler room of the sawmill owned by the lumber company and asked permission to find a "friend" who, he said was "working in the yard."

Upon questioning of the company's employees, it has developed that no one working in the yard knew the man, who when he appeared in the mill,
asked if there was "any chance for a job," and wandered about the lumber yard. Firemen coming off the job Tuesday night after 18 hours of fire fighting in zero weather, reported that the odor of kerosene was so strong in among the ruined lumber piles that they could scarcely endure standing in the smoke while fighting the blaze.
Winter operations of the Wells plant which usually operates day and night will be seriously handicapped because of lack of stocking space now that the docks have been destroyed.
It was indicated by officials of the company that night operations will not be resumed.

LABORER, AGED 60, KILLS
WIFE, ATTEMPTS SUICIDE

Holton—William Clark, 60-year-old

ment officials here with the explanation that the government has no funds which could be expended legally for that purpose.

Faces 35-Year Term

Mrs. Elsie Sweetin, Ina, Ill., poisonwidow, has been sentenced to serve 35 years in the state penitentiary for her part in the poisoning of her husband and the wife of the former preacher, Lawrence M. Hight, who was given a life sentence on the same charges.

Merry Christmas For City's Poor Families

A Merry Christmas for all Good Fellows!
That is the heartfelt wish of the three or four hundred people in Appleton who will benefit from the generosity of Appleton's splendid men and women. The future for the unfortunates looks a good deal brighter than it did a few days ago, thanks to the Good Fellows. If it were not for them Christmas would be tragic.

Every effort has been made to make Christmas happy for every poor family in Appleton. A thorough canvass has been made to include the names of all needy families in the lists of Appleton Welfare council and it is believed every family in need of help will get assistance.

Contributions to the Good Fellows fund totaled about $2,200 at noon on Wednesday. About $750 still must be raised to reach the goal of $3,000 set for this year. The Good Fellows list will be kept open until Friday in the final effort to reach that sum.

When you check over your Christmas lists be sure you haven't forgotten Appleton's poor folks. They need your help more than any person for whom you bought gifts. There still is a chance to give. Make your Christmas merry by writing a check for the Good Fellows club and send it to the Good Fellows club editor of the Post-Crescent.

RAIL EMPLOYEES FREED OF BLAME

Officials Exonerate Workers in Fatal Chippewa Falls Wreck

Stevens Point—Railway employees responsible in any way for the safety of the Soo Line passenger train which plunged into the Chippewa river at Chippewa Falls last Saturday, killing eight persons and injuring seven others, were exonerated of blame by a conference of railroad and state officials here Tuesday night.
General Supt. C. E. Urban, Minn-apolis, said after the conference that the investigation had shown the wreck was due to a broken bolt in the switch caused by the cold for which no one could be held responsible. Resides Mr. Urban, the conference was attended by representatives of the interstate commerce commission and the state railroad commission.

CHIPPEWA INDIAN GETS

years in Green Bay for assault with intent to do bodily harm to John Morrill, who has been in a hospital for over a week as a result of a beating given him by Neveaux. After Neveaux was taken into custody on this last charge it was discovered by the officers that he already was under parole from the Green Bay institution for taking an automobile without the owner's consent.

NASH MOTOR CO. MAKES GENEROUS YULE GIFTS

By Associated Press
Kenosha—Yule gifts of the Nash Motors Co. distributed Wednesday afternoon totaled more than $400,000 and they were given to every one of the employees of the Nash factories in Kenosha and Milwaukee. Charles W.
Nash, president of the company, joined in the distribution and every man as he left the plant received a graduated Christmas tree and along with it a crisp greenback. It was said that more than $300,000 of the money distributed went to employees of the Kenosha plant.

G. T. MOESKES, FORMER COUNTY JUDGE, IS DEAD

Death Claims Pioneer Jurist, Business Man and Fraternal Leader

Judge Gerhard T. Moeskes, 78, former judge of Outagamie county and for years one of the best known men in Outagamie county, died about 1 o'clock Wednesday morning in St. Elizabeth hospital where he was taken last Sunday from the home of Mr. and Mrs.
Henry Reuter, 841 Lawrence-st., where he had been living for about five years. Mr. Moeskes had been in feeble health for several years and was completely retired from active work since the death of his wife.

Mr. Moeskes was head of Outagamie county court for twelve years and in that time established an enviable record.
He was elected the first time in 1887 and was reelected in 1893 and for two terms following.

The funeral will be held at 9
Joseph church and burial will be in St. Joseph cemetery. The body has been taken to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Reuter.

Judge Moeskes was born in Germany on Jan. 16, 1846 and received his elementary education in his native land. In 1860 he came to the United States with his parents, settling in Manitowish where he learned the carpenter's trade. He entered into the insurance business about 1867 and a year later moved to Appleton. In 1874 he was elected a Justice of the peace and a year or so later he began the study of law in the office of Collins and Pierce. Mr.
Moeskes was elected clerk of circuit court in 1876 but continued his study of law and was admitted to the bar in 1884 and became a partner of the late Humphrey Pierce. His election as county judge followed in 1889.

Judge Moeskes was one of the original members of the Catholic Knights of Wisconsin and was instrumental in the rapid growth of that order. He was one of the organizers of the Union Toy and Furniture Co.
and Appleton Straw Board Co., and assisted in organizing a Citizens' National bank of which he was a director for many years.

Judge Moeskes served in the city council in 1880 and 1881.
Mr. Moeskes was a loyal representative of steamship companies for about forty years. He represented several five insurance companies at the same time. When he retired four or five years ago the steamship business was taken over by his son-in-law, Henry Reuter, with whom he had been making his home.

Mr. Moeskes was married in 1889 to Miss Marie P. Kamp of Appleton who died in 1894. Late in the following year he was married to Eliza Peters of Manitowish and she died on Oct.
26, 1919.

Mr. Moeskes' survivors are two daughters, Mrs. Henry Reuter of Appleton, and Mrs. J. L. Radcliffe of Los Angeles.

PLANE CRASHES CLAIM 12 LIVES IN U. S., ENGLAND

Four Die in Ambulance Ship
Here, Eight in British Air Express

Norfolk, Va.—Damage sustained in previous takeoff in rough seas is believed to have caused the swamping of a naval ambulance seaplane at Hampton Roads Naval air station Tuesday which resulted in the death of three naval men and a civilian.

An official inquiry was ordered by the naval authorities to determine the cause of the accident which be-tore the plane on descending to the water after returning with a hospital patient from the North Carolina coast.

The patient, Andrew Williams of Buxton, N. C., who was suffering from pneumonia, was one of those who met death. The others were
"Texan" A. S. Hunsawar, chief petty officer, and J. S. Gwin, a hospital apprentice. All four bodies were recovered.

Two of the victims were killed because they were struck by the propeller as they attempted to get clear of the plane
as it lay pitched under the water.
The others were drowned. Three co-opératees of the plane, including Lieut.
W. D. Gwin, the pilot, escaped.

Croydon, England—Eight persons were killed when an airplane crashed at the airfield here Wednesday morning.

The plane which crashed was the big express from London to Paris. It fell shortly after leaving the airdrome and burst into flames, killing the pilot and all seven passengers.

Another report says the number killed was nine, including the pilot,
three women, four men and one boy.
A statement by the Imperial Airway Co. confirmed the killing of seven passengers and the pilot in the crash. The company said it was not believed any Americans were involved in the accident.

LIFE MISERY SINCE HE WED, CASHMAN SAYS

Wife Called Him Fool, Smart Man and Dirty Hound, Defendant Claims

INSANITY IN HER FAMILY

State Senator Alleges He Never Laid Violent Hands on Spouse

Green Bay—Counsel for Mrs. Elizabeth Kelly Cashman, plaintiff in a divorce action brought against her husband, State Senator John E. Cashman, rested his case shortly after the opening of circuit court here Wednesday following the perfunctory testimony of two character witnesses.
Senator Cashman resumed the stand a short time after and upon cross examination he stated that in 1918 he invested several thousands of dollars in a Chicago bank acting as trustee for his son, John Cashman Jr., to whom was deeded an 80-acre tract or land three days before the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Cashman on April 24, 1923.

Allegations of mental derangement
in at least two members of Mrs.
Cashman's immediate family were made Tuesday afternoon when Attorney V. I. Minahan, for the defense, asked her if it was not true that she had two brothers in institutions for the mentally deranged suffering "delusions of persecution."

Mrs. Cashman's reply to the question was that one of her brothers was in a sanitarium and that the other had a nervous breakdown and was recovering.

When Senator Cashman took the stand for cross examination he denied that he had ever laid hands on his wife with force except one night to try and hold her in bed when she insisted on building a fire at 1 o'clock in the morning.

Ever since their marriage his wife had made things extremely unpleasant for him, Cashman testified.
At Madison she was out of her sanitarium with his work and "the other" according to biography, that he had been made to "live off" and that she "would have to be a man of him."
"Frequently," he testified, "she called him 'fool,' 'smart man,' 'dirty hound,' and 'mean old thing.'"

The defense was expected to rest its case shortly before noon and after the noon recess arguments to the court were to begin.

CHRISTMAS MAIL THIS YEAR SETS BRAND NEW MARK

130,000 Pieces of First Class Mail Cancelled in Two Days

As much mail was handled at the Appleton postoffice during the first two days of this week as on nine or ten days of the year. The cancel machine cancelled 130,000 pieces of first class mail during the two days of this week. On Monday and Tuesday the cancel machine cancelled 65,000 pieces of mail. This is a record for this time of the year. The amount of mail cancelled in one day is about 1,000.

The cancellation in the postoffice on Tuesday was very heavy for the second day before Christmas. Postmaster Zwick is informed that the same conditions prevail practically all over the country and that the offices in the larger cities are finding it impossible to keep up with the mail coming in.

The incoming mail at the Appleton postoffice also was considerably heavier than usual and exceeded the amount of outgoing mail. Parcel post arriving at the office is literally choking the office and leaves but little room in which to move about. Large sales of postage stamps for greeting cards and parcel post also are evident. The total receipts for the last ten days is $7,697.24 which is an increase of 33 per cent over the same period last year when the receipts amounted to $5,747.39.

With mail trains coming in late and loads of mail increasing to many times their usual size, city letter carriers are finding it difficult to cover their entire routes. They are starting as early as 5:30 to sort their mail and find it impossible to start out on their routes until 11:30 or 12 o'clock. They then deliver until as late as 7 o'clock at night.

MERRY CHRISTMAS FOR CITY'S CHARGES

Although no Christmas will here after be the same to the inmates of the City poor houses the Christmas they knew when they were young the holiday is being made as cheerful as possible under the conditions of poverty, poor health and separation from their families.

A Christmas tree will be lighted for their benefit, and relief societies of the city usually remember the inmates with an assortment of gifts. One society has already visited the home and delivered baskets of fruit and other gifts. Groups of singers also appear at the home to cheer up the inmates with a number of Christmas carols. The Christmas dinner also is a feature of the celebration. Children raised on the poor farm are served together with the usual Christmas dishes, such as cranberry sauce mince pie and the like.

The family at the City home numbers 11 inmates six of whom are men.

AUTOMOBILE DAMAGED IN COLLISION WITH BUS

An automobile owned by William O. Stewart, 955 Wisconsin-st was damaged when struck by a Waupaca bus in front of the Hoffmeyer Bros. Christmas meat market at 49 College-st. Tuesday Mr. Stewart was backing away from the street curb in order to go west when the car was hit by the bus which was being driven west by Edward Doerflinger, 1025 Superior-st. The right front fender and front bumper of the Stewart car was bent and a headlight was broken.

Miss Mildred Foss has arrived from Milwaukee to spend Christmas at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Foss.

George Morris who is in the employ of the Soudern Mip company Chicago has arrived in Appleton to spend Christmas at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Morris.

CHILDREN TAKE PART IN CHRISTMAS FESTIVAL

The Christmas festival of St. Mat thew church will be held at 7 o'clock Wednesday evening in the church parlors. A program of songs, recitations, stories and group singing will be presented by the Sunday school children. The choir will sing. After the program the children will receive small gifts from the Christmas tree.

German services will be held at 9 o'clock Christmas morning and 11 o'clock. Christmas will be held at 10:15. The first service is "The New Born King," 10:15.

Miss Helen Keller, 632 Eighth-st. left for Stevens Point where she will direct the choir for midnight mass and for solemn high mass in St. Stephen church in that city. Miss Keller who teaches in Stevens Point has been spending the last few days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gustav Keller.

FELLOW PRISONER SPOILS ATTEMPT TO ESCAPE JAIL

Pat Coffey, Former Local Youth, Tries to Flee from Milwaukee Prison

Patrick Coffey, 22, former Appleton youth held in the county jail at Milwaukee after he was arrested for stealing $1,000 worth of typewriters from Marquette university, nearly escaped from that institution Monday when he mingled with visitors and walked out of the building.

Not till he reached the sidewalk was an alarm sounded. Coffey started to run when he heard the shouts of the jailers and started up Broadway. A half dozen deputies, drawing pistols started in pursuit and Coffey, delayed by heavy traffic, was captured in front of the telephone building.

The fugitive was dejected, bruised and mud spattered. Upon his return he was informed that he will not receive the elaborate Christmas dinner to be served other prisoners, he will not be allowed to participate in holiday festivities and he will not be permitted to see visitors.

This attempt to escape might have been successful had it not been for a warning shouted by another prisoner, a trusty awaiting trial, who saw Coffey walk past the visitors room and open a barred door which was slightly ajar. Two jailers had their backs turned at the moment.

Three men who came as visitors, apparently, had plotted the escape with Coffey. They were in the visitors room and Coffey was called to see them. As he walked past they fell in step and the four walked past the visitors in the corridor. After the alarm the three men fled.

Agnes Mackey, 20, formerly a school teacher near Ishpeming, Mich., was arrested with Coffey. She was released on bail Monday morning and it was thought that Coffey planned to join her after his escape. He would not tell where she is.

Miss Edmar Nelson, who recently accepted a position on the Social Service staff of Cook county hospital, Chicago, will spend the holidays at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Nelson, 691 Spring-st.

RUSSIAN TRAINS GOOD IN SPIRE OF POOR TRACKS

Efficient Railway Service Stands Out Amid General Ruin of Country

By Associated Press
Moscow.—In the midst of the general industrial prostration, social disintegration, and the breakdown of many processes of life in Russia, nothing seems so striking as the efficiency and comfort of the railroad service. Although the Soviet has far from an adequate number of locomotives or passenger coaches, it maintains a travel service which, if much below the standard of imperial days, is at the same time a credit to the country with its present depleted resources.

Americans and other foreign visitors may travel from Warsaw, Berlin or Riga to the largest cities of Russia and enjoy many of the comforts which existed before the war. Although these are, as a rule, no dining cars on these trains, passengers may secure wholesome food at the station restaurants along the route. There are no regular sleeping-cars, as in pre-war days, but comfortable berths and compartments of the local Russian type, equipped with clean bed linen, usually can be secured. First-class fares are considerably less than in the United States.

On most of the longer routes within Russia, regular sleeping and restaurant cars are maintained and, except in the matter of speed and the number of trains daily, the service falls little short of the pre-revolution standard. Between Moscow and Petrograd there are several excellent trains daily. First-class trains run also from Moscow and Petrograd to Batumi, Tiflis, Baku, Odessa, the Crimea, and other points. Once a week there are express trains between Moscow and Vladivostok, with international sleeping cars and diners attached, the trip occupying about 12 days.

On all these journeys, however, the passenger soon realizes that the most serious defect in the Russian railroad service is the deplorable condition of the tracks, the roadbed and the crossings, which have not been replaced for years.

The railroads in Russia are run at a great deficit. The repair of the badly worn rolling stock, the renewal of parts, the building of new passenger and freight-cars, the strengthening and repair of insecure bridges, and the reconstruction of ruined water-towers and round-houses, have entailed enormous expense. The Soviet authorities are trying to secure a loan abroad for the Russian railroads, but the terms have not been sufficiently liberal to attract foreign capital.

DENIES SUNSPOTS CAUSE TREMBLORS

Berkeley, Cal.—Fear that earthquakes may result from the accumulation of spots on the sun is without scientific basis, according to W. F. Meyer, associate professor of astrophysics at the University of California.

The sun spots, which have been causing much speculation lately, are under continual observation at the university and at other observatories. Professor Meyer said: "Although these spots are constantly coming together and breaking up to form new ones, the total area is not increasing to any appreciable amount. As far as we know, they have nothing to do with cyclones on the earth or with our weather conditions in any respect. The only noticeable effect is on the auroral displays at the Pole and in causing magnetic storms, which sometimes interfere slightly with telegraphy."

MR. AND MRS. HERMAN KURT, SR., OF NEW LONDON, HAVE PASSED THE FIFTIETH MILESTONE OF THEIR MARRIED LIFE.

New London — Mr. and Mrs. Herman Kurt, Sr., 910 Main-st., this city, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary, Thursday, Dec. 18.

Mr. and Mrs. Kurt were married in this city 50 years ago on Dec. 18, 1874 by the Rev. Mr. Lauritzen, then pastor of Emmanuel Lutheran church. They then moved to the town of Liberty, where they resided on a farm for 46 years, moving to their present home four years ago. All of their eight children, Charles, August, William, George, Ernest, Herman, Mrs. August Schoenfeldt, and their families, and an unmarried son, Henry were all present at the anniversary celebration. All of the family resides near this city.

Mr. Kurt says that at that time

CANADIAN RAISES RUSTPROOF WHEAT

By Associated Press
Winnipeg, Man.—A new variety of wheat which will resist all attacks of rust, a species of Marquis which is said to yield from four to six bushels to the acre more than the ordinary variety has been developed by Samuel Larcombe, a prominent grain grower of Bartle, Man. The new wheat has been tried out in areas in western Canada infested with rust and came through without damage, according to Larcombe.

Larcombe has been a Manitoba farmer for 30 years and in that time has won 3,000 prizes on wheat at Canadian and American expositions. He won the world's championship for wheat at the Toronto International Fair in 1917 and in 1918 the sweepstakes for the best individual farmer's exhibit as well as sweepstakes for wheat in the dry farming sections of the International Soil Products Exposition in Kansas City.

Miss Marie Keller of Chicago is spending the Christmas holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gustave Keller, 922 Eighth-st.

Both are in good health.

SPECIAL PHYSICAL CLASSES STARTED FOR WEAK STUDENTS

University of California Provides Exercise for Incapacitated Members

Berkeley, Cal.—The University of California's system of physical education has been expanded to include students who have physical defects, but are not necessarily required to forego all exertion conducive to building up their bodies.

As Prof. Frank L. Kleeberger, chairman of the department of physical education, explained it: "Many students who are incapacitated in one way or another apply for permission to be excused from work in this department because they think that it is impossible for them to pursue such a course. Yet they are anxious to engage in something that would border along athletic lines. After we have secured permission from attending physicians, we have in many instances been able to place such students in special classes, with results very gratifying."

University gymnastic teams in recent terms have included three one-legged men. One student with a withered arm has become adept at bag punching.

"Physical education does not necessarily mean physical exercise," said Prof. Kleeberger. "Many times we recommend abstinence from physical exercise and advise certain regular living habits which tend to build up the nervous system. Diet also plays an important part."

Frank VanWyk, who is attending the University of Wisconsin, is home for the Christmas vacation.

A. Buchman of Chicago, is spending a few weeks at his home, 811 North-st.

GIRL IS TAKEN TO STATE HOSPITAL FOR TREATMENT

Otto Wickert, undersheriff, left Wednesday for Mendota to escort a 17-year-old girl to the psychiatric institute. The girl was arrested by Appleton police last week for larceny and improper conduct. A medical examination indicated that the girl was more in need of medical treatment than punishment. She was committed to the state institution by Judge Fred V. Heinemann of the county court.

Miss Elsie Nissen, who is employed at the Citizens National bank, will spend Christmas with her mother at Owen.

ANOTHER NAVAL CONFERENCE
Whatever misgivings may exist in the public mind as to the force and success of the Coolidge administration relate more to foreign than to domestic policy. It is generally accepted that we will have a strong and constructive conduct of affairs at home. The administration is going to bend its effort toward economy and lower taxation, and therein lie the principal benefits it can confer upon the nation. It is going to serve the farmer in whatever ways it can, but it is not going to indulge in paternalistic schemes that only increase agricultural dependency.

The foreign field is different. Up to the election of Mr. Coolidge we had a doubtful and evasive foreign policy. True, there was the Washington arms conference, and our contribution to the settlement of reparations, two outstanding achievements, but the latter was not official, and in a general way our helpful cooperation to Europe and to the peace of the world was lacking. Mr. Coolidge now has under consideration the calling of another naval disarmament conference. Japan views it with favor, and it is to be taken for granted that Great Britain will do the same. It is a commonplace to say that this step is advised.

The treaties adopted three years ago at the Washington naval conference have, all things considered, worked admirably. We believe that the spirit of these agreements has been scrupulously observed by Great Britain, Japan and the United States. It was natural that the treaties, which broke untouched soil, should not be perfect. Some questions have arisen in their interpretation which need to be clarified. They leave doubt as to just what may or may not be done in the building of auxiliary naval craft. This obscurity of the treaties is what is at the bottom of most of the recent discussion regarding the relative condition of the three navies. It is clear that we should have a conference for the purpose of interpreting these controversial points, if for no other reason.

However, there are many who believe that these nations can go a step further in the reduction of armament. In approaching this question we should keep constantly before us the fact that in every acute international misunderstanding it is a background of force that stands in the way of a fair and equitable agreement if anything does. The more force the less likelihood of conciliation and reason to prevail. Great military establishments are without doubt the chief menace to peace. They are also the heaviest tax burden upon the people. More money is spent by the great powers, including the United States, for wars and preparation for wars than for any other purpose. It is imperative that we get out from under this load. Not only is it recommended by our material interests, but by the higher consideration of its contribution toward peace.

There will be no disposition to press Mr. Coolidge for undue speed. He should act in his own good time, for he is the better judge of when and how to move. The step should be taken entirely irrespective of the decision of the League of Nations regarding a conference for land disarmament. The farther we progress toward naval reduction, the easier it is going to be in the future to settle disputes like those over immigration, debt adjustment, economic controversy, etc.

THE FARMER IN 1925
Scarcity of world crops has brought unexpected and much needed prosperity to grain growers in the United States. The total value of the important farm crops in the United States for the year is placed at $9,179,902,000 by the department of agriculture. This is a gain of more than a billion and a half dollars over the value of the same crops two years ago, and a three-quarter billion dollar gain over last year. This increase in value was made despite the fact that the total production was less. Extraordinary prices of wheat were one cause. They were, of course, due to crop shortages in other countries and the lack of supply in the world market. The world shortage of wheat was 440,000,000 bushels. Corn reached very high prices for the reason that there was a crop shortage at home of approximately 600,000,000 bushels.

The prosperity, therefore, which has come to the grain growers is the result purely of short production and consequent lack of supply. It cannot be regarded as any permanent assurance of agricultural prosperity, nor even of prosperity next year. There is already some indication that American farmers may plant a greatly increased acreage in grains in the evident expectation of continued high prices. Prices must depend upon world production, and if they are to rule high, as in the case of corn, it must mean another short crop in this country, and in the case of wheat, another world shortage.

These uncertainties constitute the precariousness of farming, so far as the staples are concerned. Dairying is different. There is nearly always a strong market for its products, particularly those of quality. The same is true of nearly every other kind of specialized agriculture.

The great problem before the American farmer is scientific control over production and marketing. Staples should be grown only where they can be produced the cheapest and to best advantage. In other regions crops must be diversified. Artificial remedies undertaken by the government can be of no benefit to agriculture so long as it does not conform itself to the underlying economic laws which control. The farmer should not be placed in the position where he has to depend for prosperity upon crop failures in other lands, nor upon the adversity of some of his fellow farmers in this country. Neither politics nor government, however, will ever solve this problem. Only business brains which work in conformity with economic law will provide the solution.

What makes you that way?
The real Christmas spirit, no doubt That feeling inside
Is made up of real pride
And you find that it has to come out.

You well
That bring you the cheer,

That adds to your living,
And brings forth, all over again,
That thought, never to cease,
That real spirit—Peace

PROPHYLAXIS OF HEMORRHOIDS.
The prevention of piles is a question with many aspects which I have been elucidating in several recent articles in this department. The prevention of the "attack of piles," when one is already subject to varicosity of the hemorrhoidal veins, is another question which we can deal with in a few paragraphs.
Many who are subject to hemorrhoids do not know it yet. The veins are more or less hypertrophied (thickened) tissues around them await some direct cause of inflammation. Among the causes which may excite an attack of piles in an individual subject to the condition are constipation, the friction of numerous "herb" or "vegetable" cathartic concoctions, excessive straining in the presence of a constive state, and perhaps most important of all, infection of the piles directly through slight excoriations. This last cause demands careful consideration, for it is by taking particular pains to prevent such infection that the individual with piles may best avoid painful attacks.

Soap and water, cold water, thorough drying and if necessary the occasional use of plain talcum powder or boric acid and talcum or zinc stearate powder should be a fixed routine in the toilet of the person for one subject to piles. This routine is particularly essential every night and every morning and after every defecation.
In many instances the hemorrhoidal mass protrudes or protrudes with defecation, and in such cases the greatest care must be taken with the toilet to prevent infection and an "attack" of agonizing character. Tepid or cold water is preferable, except in the presence of acute inflammation when large hot moist compresses or "packs" are grateful for temporary relief. The application of cold water several times a day tends to contract the engorged veins and maintain a healthier and more resistant tonus in the tissues. One of the dusting powders should be used only when there is a tendency toward chafing, moisture, itching or other irritation of the skin surface.

There is a general belief that the excessive layers of clothing commonly worn, together with excessive warmth from prolonged sitting in upholstered chairs and the natural warmth of the perineum from its anatomical situation, may predispose to hemorrhoids, but this is doubtful, for explorers assure us that the naked savages are about as frequently subject to hemorrhoids as civilized folk. It is advisable, however, for one subject to piles to avoid such excessive warmth as far as possible, in selecting clothing and chair seats. A cane chair seat is always preferable to a cushioned seat, and if upholstery is used, a leather or similar material is preferable to cloth, and a wooden seat is at least as good as either. A metal seat with perforations for ventilation is good.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.
Veins on Nose.
How can I have the little red veins on my nostrils and cheeks removed? If I punctured them with a needle and let the blood out would it stay out? (H. F. J.)
No, they would immediately refill. A physician who is a skin specialist can probably obliterate them, either by electrolysis or by diathermy or other surgical method. Beware of the quacks—you've got to wear your face a long while yet.

Blood Poisoning.
Is a razor blade cut, or a cut with anything made of razor steel, more poisonous than other cuts by other metals? (M. R. C.)
Answer—No metal that will cut is poisonous in that way. Any poisoning following a cut is "blood poisoning," septicemia, due to pus producing germs getting into the wound.

Adenoids.
Give all the symptoms of adenoids. I am 18 and have adenoids and I want to know if I have them removed can I overcome mouth breathing? (L. D.)
Answer—If the adenoids alone are responsible for the mouth breathing, their removal will probably enable you to overcome it.

LOOKING BACKWARD

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO
Wednesday, Dec. 27, 1899.

C. F. Smith, who owned a quarry a short distance from the city, was planning to haul over a thousand cords of building stone to town. The material was to be used in the spring building operations.

A marriage license was issued to A. M. Lewis of Oshkosh and Nellie M. Scott of Appleton.

W. S. Goodland and family of Beloit were spending the holidays with Appleton relatives.

Appleton postoffice was to begin using an electric canceling machine the first of the year.

Appleton Boat Propulsion Manufacturing company, a $10,000 corporation filed articles with Register of Deeds R. J. Zuphko yesterday. The incorporators were C. E. Moskos, Joseph Gersmisch, Alfred Brotschneider, Peter Held, Joseph Stein, Matt Rossmelzel, Fred Stoffel and Alfred Belz.

Catholic Order of Foresters elected the following officers at a meeting last night: Chief ranger, E. W. Sacksteder; vice chief ranger, George Merkell; recording secretary, Ernest Gut; financial secretary, John Ryan; treasurer, Dennis Carroll.

A company of nearly 50 friends gave a surprise party last night for Officer and Mrs. Michael Garvey.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Schuetter left this morning for Milwaukee and Sheboygan to visit friends for several days.

TEN YEARS AGO
Wednesday, Dec. 23, 1914.

Mystery surrounded the origin of a $30,000 fire which completely destroyed a three-story warehouse of the Jersie Knitting company at Neenah at 2 o'clock this morning.

Trenches were being dug along the nearest towns near London, harbors were mined and day and night patrol by seaplanes and boats was being kept by the British. These precautions were the result of a belief that a German invasion was being planned.

A record in outgoing mail was made at the post office yesterday when 215 sacks were dispatched. George Whelan of De Pere, and Luther Lindauer of Kaukauna were in conference with Appleton officials late this morning relative to the appointment of Hugh Mithelland as postmaster at Kaukauna.

(From Innendekoration, Darmstadt.)
A traveler taking his first walks in Tuscany will probably not enjoy the landscape. For hours he will follow a stony path under the glare of a ruthless sun. The path will wind between walls higher than a man, walls which do not permit a single glimpse of the fields. But behind these walls which surround each private piece of property is the world. There are the beautiful old villas with their cypress gardens; there are the fields with their silvery olive trees; there are the wheat, tobacco and rice fields.

Only after having climbed for a long time, does the hiker have a chance to see the entire landscape with its clear, enchanting beauty of form and color. Or if he is lucky he will come upon a place where a more humane property-owner has surrounded his estate with only a low garden wall.

Indeed, this desire for privacy is very obvious in southern countries. People from northern Europe are likely to feel almost hurt by it. They feel deprived of many a beautiful sight by those rigid, high walls which permit not a glance upon park and villa.

In countries north of the Alps there is never this desire to seclude oneself almost hermetically from the outside world. We in northern Europe have the open fence, or the kindly living green hedge. We have a far different conception of privacy than people in southern Europe have.

Without going as far as to allow passers-by or neighbors to look into our windows, we let them see as much as they can without disturbing our own sense of privacy. Privacy approaches its ideal state when we are not disturbed by others and when we do not disturb others by too ostentatious a seclusion.

Obscure Writer Gets Nobel Prize

(From The St. Louis Post-Dispatch.)
When the newspapers announced that the Nobel prize for literature for 1924 had been awarded to Ladislav Reymont, a good many readers must have looked up from the papers with a blank stare and asked, "Who is he?" Reymont, according to the large majority of English reading folk and even to most continental, the Polish novelist, simply by vote of the board of directors of the Nobel foundation is catapulted into the company of such immortals as Anatole France and Roman Rolland, Mommensen, the historian, and Eucken, the philosopher. Hauptmann, the playwright, and Yeats, the poet, among Nobel prize men Reymont most closely resembles Knut Hamsun, the Norwegian, for like him he has dwelt most lovingly upon the life of the soil. Hamsun is known to us through Growth of Soil; the award to Reymont is based on his tetralogy, The Peasant, begun in 1902, finished in 1906, the first volume of which, Autumn, has just been published in translation.

Reymont takes his place with Henryk Sienkiewicz, the only other Pole selected for the Nobel prize. When the Nobel committee does not crown favorites, as in the case of Kipling, it guides literary taste in the direction of a stranger.

Q. What is the name of the President's dog and what is its breed?
L. S.

A. The President has two dogs, Laddie Buck, an alreadale, he, and Rob Roy, a white collie.

Q. What is the name of the shrine so often seen in Chinese and Japanese pictures, which looks like two upright posts with curved pieces across them?
P. W. L.

A. In Chinese architecture, this is known as a pailon, and often stands alone as a memorial. In Japanese, the name is torii. These gateways of light skeleton-like post-and-lintel construction, designed with delicately curved lines, are usually found as an approach to sacred places.

Q. What is the approximate cost of a fully equipped racing car of an up-to-date 91.5 cubic inch type?
C. K.

A. The American Automobile Association says the approximate cost of a modern racing car 91.5 cubic inch type would be sixteen thousand dollars.

Q. How many ex-Presidents wives receive Government pensions?
W. J. M.

A. At the present time Mrs. Roosevelt is the only President's widow receiving a pension. The Franking privilege was extended to Mrs. Roosevelt, Mrs. Cleveland, Mrs. Wilson, and the late Mrs. Harding.

Q. Why does boiled water taste flat?
W. J. K.

A. Boiled water tastes different because the air is dissolved. After boiling, it may be aerated by passing it through a sieve-like device.

Q. Where is found the first mention of the papal tiara?
A. G. S.

A. Joseph Braun, in a brief history of the papal tiara, says that it is first mentioned in the "Vita" of Pope Constantine (708-715) contained in the Liber Pontificalis. The term used is the "diadematum".

Q. What is the length of the race course at Santa Monica?
W. T. L.

A. The American Automobile Association says the old Santa Monica beach course was simply a series of boulevards running around the town of Santa Monica, California, not being a special speedway in any sense. Due to adverse local legislation, no races have been held on this course since 1916.

Q. What will remove grease and dust from white paints?
J. P. L.

A. Good way to clean white paint is to dip a piece of soft flannel cloth in warm water, wring it out, then dip it in clean kerosene, using this to rub the paint. The friction of the kerosene will remove the stains without injuring the paint.

TARIFF ON PAPER
Editor, Post-Crescent: Your editorial of the 22nd, regarding Political Levis on Kenosha is very interesting and educational to not only the ordinary "hum" like me, but some of our newspaper men who are constantly advocating this new law and that new measure; and seem to be enjoying pecking away at some business man who is too busy to answer, but keeps quiet as he does not desire to hurt anyone's feelings.

1. For one, appreciate this editorial, and hope you will give us all the advantages of such news as comes to your notice.

I might further add that you newspaper proprietors or owners have everlastingly advocated free news paper, and to tell you the truth you are "killing the goose that lays your golden eggs," because you do not have any paper manufacturers, or paper makers to man the machines, you people would automatically go out of business.

Do you realize that there is about enough wood for newspapers to last about forty to fifty years, in the eastern half of the United States and Canada; also when your paper will have to be bought from Alaska or somewhere on the Pacific Coast you will have to pay more because of the freight (unless you have your own private airplane freight carrier)?

If there were to be a 5 to 10 per cent tariff put on all news paper coming into the United States, it would be a good thing for all concerned. The money so obtained could be used for planting out trees on thousands of acres of practically worthless land. Let the public have a National policy to preserve and maintain our forests. We are all in the same boat like Nero—keep on chattering while Rome is burning.

Every once in a while some one shouts, "Look out," and we hear a few speeches about forestry and get a mild form of enthusiasm; then it dies down.

Why not keep everlastingly at it and then at it again? Plant trees, keep it in the schools and colleges all the time. Till the iron while it is hot and keep it good and hot.

You newspaper men should be reasonable and have a reasonable tariff on news paper. There are men in Appleton who are losing time every week, who are employed on paper machines in Appleton, and who would like steady work. So when you talk about this time of the year, about being a good fellow, why not be an all-around good fellow and help assume part of the other fellow's burdens; and not expect several local paper makers to loaf on part time because of the newspapers' short-sighted and selfish policy of wanting—and getting—foreign news paper?

Say, "Kids," do you think it square? Why not play fair?

Yours truly,
W. S. Furringer, Jr.

AMERICAN CASH WILL BOOM IRISH INDUSTRY

Dublin—Captain M. Brophill of the Irish Fisheries Association has said that American financiers have agreed to form a company with a capital of $5,000,000 to develop the Irish fishery industry. The company will be registered in Ireland and the directors will be Irishmen, but the money will be floated in America. The money, said Captain Brophill, has been actually put up.

Tank ships will be procured for the purpose of placing Irish live fish in the British and Continental markets and it is hoped to establish a large trade in cured fish in America.

WHERE'S YOUR WARRANT?

Dorothy Martin Hultman. She ran away from her Chicago husband at the end of a month's honeymoon. He telegraphed all along the line for detectives to detain her. At Fort Wayne Ind. and at Creshine, O., when detectives approached her she said, "Where's your warrant? You can't arrest a woman for leaving her husband I can you." And that bit of feminine logic cleared her way to New York. She expects to sail from there for Europe.

Marriage Has Customs Of Many Lands

The Egyptians were the first to use the wedding ring. In hieroglyphics a circle represents eternity so it is not surprising that the circular wedding ring should have been adopted as being symbolic of marriage ties, implying a union that would be binding throughout eternity. The ring was used in marriage among Christians from 860. From records of that time one learns that when a marriage settlement had been properly sealed rings bearing the names of the newly married couple were handed around to the guests for examination.

Rings have been of every conceivable material from gold, silver, iron, brass to leather and wool, and of varying sizes according to the means of the lovers. There is one instance of a ring being cut from a bride's kid glove and another of one being fashioned on the spur of the moment from a piece of old leather. Horace Walpole tells the amusing incident of the Duke of Hamilton who decided to marry Mrs. Gunning one evening at half past twelve and lacking a ring substituted a ring from a bed curtain.

THE GOLDEN APPLE

Orange blossoms have been worn or carried by brides since earliest times. The blossoms portend good luck and happiness because the orange was believed to be the golden apple presented to Jupiter by Juno on their marriage day.

Long ago a garland of flowers was absolutely essential in the marriage ceremony. It was placed on the bride's head and was known as the "coronet of the good girl." Ruse old books tell that it was the privilege only of a virtuous bride who should wear a ring on her finger a brooch on her breast, and a garland on her head.

Back the throwing of which is a sign of well wishing and joy at our highly civilized weddings, has a far different aspect and place in the marriage ceremonies among savage peoples. In Celotes there is a belief that the soul of the bridegroom unless bribed is likely to fly away at marriage and never return. To prevent such a disastrous loss the bride is seduced to remain. At Dyak marriages the bride and groom first eat together and are then sprinkled with rice. At the Malay wedding friends put into the hands of the bride and groom uncooked rice and with this they feed each other simultaneously.

GUESTS BROUGHT CAKES

The wedding cake of today was the idea of a clever French chef. Previously it had been the custom among the Anglo-Saxons for the guests themselves to bring to the wedding small richly spiced buns which were piled in one huge mound on the table. Then the bride and groom would attempt to kiss each other over this mound and if they succeeded they were assured that their marriage would prosper. However, the life long prospect of the Frenchman while stopping in London noticed the inconvenience of piling hundreds of small spice cakes up in this manner and he conceived the idea of icing this mound into one solid mass. So the wedding cake was born.

The throwing of the bridal bouquet originated with the old custom of scrambling for the bride's garter. In the early fourteenth century in France it was considered a lucky thing to win the bride's garter and everyone rushed for it at the conclusion of the ceremony. Brides wisely left no garter dangling where it could be easily reached but nevertheless they were often hurt in the scuffle. So the gar-

Coué Tactics Work Well In Married Life

BY CYNTHIA GREY

It takes so little to make a man happy—a kiss, a word of flattery, a decent cup of coffee—that one marvels at the fortunes paid out in all matrimony.

At twenty a man marries a good looking at thirty a good talker, and at forty a good cook.

Marriage is a steam-roller. Every once in a while it flattens you out and takes every bit of your pep. And just as you've picked yourself up and got yourself back into shape it comes along behind you and does the same thing over again.

Tell your husband he's a hero. You can Coué a man into being anything you want him to be.

QUESTIONS—ANSWERS

Dear Miss Grey: The man I work for is married. Occasionally he asks me to go to lunch with him to talk over some part of the office work. I wonder if it's wrong to do this. What would you say?

MISS C. C.

I'd say that it is wrong. So would almost anyone else, especially the man's wife. If she knew. Surely there's no part of your work that you can't talk about in the office.

Dear Miss Grey: I am engaged to a man who is studying to be a doctor. He says he can't get married for five years. What I'm afraid of is that after I've waited for him all that time he'll fall in love with a younger girl. I am twenty three now.

ALICE

The chances are that he won't, but you'll have to take that risk if you love him. No woman knows for certain that the man she loves will always love her. All you can do is try to be more attractive and lovable all the time.

to, gave way to the stocking and in the next century we find "Stocking throwing" the favorite bridal custom. Stockings, however, are not the easiest and most convenient objects to move so the custom of throwing the bridal bouquet gradually supplanted the older one.

Stocking has a significance. Each little custom that the bride observes links her to the long chain that stretches back across the ages. These customs continue from centuries to centuries and though perhaps we sometimes consider them a bit foolish in our twentieth century sophistication, we know we would not have them for the world—Lillian Eichler in "The Customs of Mankind."

You Can Make Your Day Bed Very Smart

A day bed is a feature of many modern sitting rooms. It not only provides a comfortable lounging place but in these days of restricted space and few spare bedrooms it may easily be turned into a bed for two guests who must be put up.

Anyone who possesses a spare single bedstead can turn it into an attractive day bed by the expenditure of a little time and ingenuity. In the first place the top rails of the bedstead must be sawn away, leaving the legs and frame to support the wire mattress and the overlay. The bottom rails are left, as they are lower, and the bedstead is turned around so that the original foot be comes the head.

VALANCE OF CHINTZ

Make a cover for the wire mattress that exactly fits it, and then to the two long sides and one short side gather on a valance of pretty chintz long enough just to clear the floor. In this way the valance is secure and occasions no bother in tucking. The overlay must next be hid behind the valance, and then hang to the bed and place them smoothly on top of the overlay, and then, measuring them all together, cut a cover of chintz to cover both. The chintz need only be used for the top and the depth, and a less costly material for the underside. By storing the blankets thus a well padded seat is provided to the day bed and the bedding is well aired in case of necessity.

A BOLSTER, TOO

Then a cover of chintz must also be made for the head of the bed. It should be in the form of a double case which is easily fitted, slips over the rails and can be tied into position below the mattress. The edge down that belongs to the bed may be transformed into a delightfully soft bolster. Fasten by rolling it up the short way and having it in case of Roman satin. The latter is not difficult to make if the rolled end of the eiderdown are measured and two circular pieces of material cut to fit. Then another straight piece of material is required, as broad as the rolled eiderdown and as deep as the circumference of the circular ends. These are joined up, leaving the long seam from end to end of the case open and fitting it with pieces of stuff, so that the eiderdown may be easily removed when needed for its proper purpose.

The pillows and bolster should also be encased in pretty covers and used as cushions. This convention gives a charming day bed, comfortable as a lounge, which can also be stripped of its coverings and made up as an ordinary bed in a very few minutes.—Manchester Guardian

GREAT GLACIERS IN COLORADO ARE MELTING SLOWLY

Excessive Heat and Long Droughts Cause Ice Sheets to Disappear

By Associated Press

Boulder, Colo.—Colorado's glaciers are vanishing slowly, according to Professor Junius Henderson, curator of the museum of the University of Colorado.

Disintegration of the ice sheets has resulted largely from the excessive hot weather and the dry seasons during the last few years. The great ice masses on the glacier peaks of the Rockies have been in slow retreat for the last 22 years, Professor Henderson declares.

"However, the retreat has been very rapid since 1910," he said, "for climatic conditions have been unfavorable to the accumulation or preservation of ice during that period. This is particularly noticeable in the Arapahoe glacier, the largest in Colorado."

If disintegration continues at the present rate, all the glaciers in the state will disappear with the possible exception of two, the Arapahoe and the "Lodgepole Pine."

Professor Henderson expressed the opinion that the recent dry seasons were only part of the climatic cycle and probably would not continue as unfavorable.

Detailed study of the Arapahoe glacier reveals that the great ice sheet has retreated 40 feet within the last 22 years. Corresponding loss is shown on others, large and small, Professor Henderson says.

Do You Fight Against Bulk All The Time

BY CYNTHIA GREY

Now that it's so cold to swim or play tennis we begin the great winter sport of battling against bulk.

Your mirror will tell you what your best friend never will.

You can't eat your cake and have a figure too! So better a plate of spinach and a stranger line dress than chicken patties and a rubber reducing garment.

Learn to look the potato in the face. It is a highly cultivated variety, more easily available for colonization.

I under a bill now before Congress large extensions of idle lands, mostly held by wealthy individuals and located near third lines, would be expropriated and sold or leased to farmers in parcels.

The refusal thus far of many of these great land owners to sell their properties or even a part of them, has long been cited as an obstacle to colonization and the economic growth of the country. Their policy has been to keep their estates intact and rent lands on a percentage basis of production, a system which has not proved attractive to the ambitious immigrant, since the largest benefit goes to the land owner.

With an appropriation of 100,000,000 pesos annually the bill would authorize the government to expropriate 50 per cent of these idle estates for colonization. The land owner having to purchase however, of avoiding expropriation by assigning 50 per cent of his property to the same purpose under conditions fixed by the government. Lands owned by some of the provinces would be similarly expropriated.

QUESTIONS—ANSWERS

Dear Miss Grey: I'm 17 and old enough I think to go out to a movie sometimes with the other girls or a boy friend. My mother won't let me do this, but I just because she's old-fashioned.

Is she so old-fashioned? And is it so long ago that she was 13 herself? I think not. I think it's because she remembers how very young a girl is at 13 and how little she knows really about taking care of herself then that she's taking such good care of you.

Dear Miss Grey: There's been a misunderstanding between me and the girls I play bridge with. Ought I to go to them to explain things?"

Miss Lane:

No I wouldn't. Did you ever happen to hear this bit of advice—

Never explain. Your friends don't need it and your enemies won't believe it anyway. Wait for the girls to come to you. And if you don't, you'll have your dignity.

EXCELLENT MUSIC FOR MASS TONIGHT

Kaukauna — Preparations have been made to furnish an elaborate program of music during the midnight mass Wednesday night in St. Mary church as part of the Christmas service. The public is invited to attend.

Beginning at 11:30 Bethany music will be played by a double string quartet with organ accompaniment. "Silent Night" will be sung by a chorus with instrumental accompaniment. "Festival Mass in E Flat" by J. Wiegand, will be one of the feature numbers of the service and during the offertory the strings will play "Adeste Fideles." The strings and organ also will play during communion. "Come Ye to Bethlehem" by Danke, will be the closing musical number. The music is under the direction of Edward Galmbacher.

CHURCHES HOLD SERVICES THURSDAY

Kaukauna — Following its annual custom, Trinity Lutheran church will hold services Thursday, Christmas day. English worship will be held at 9:30 and German services will take place at 10:30. Social numbers will be sung at both services. Worship in the German language only will be conducted at 10 o'clock Friday morning, second Christmas day. Wednesday evening's Christmas program by the Sunday school will begin at 8:30.

The sacrament of the Lord's supper will be celebrated in Reformed church at 10 o'clock Thursday morning at which time German services will be held. A special offering will be taken for the benefit of the Nelson house at Plymouth. The offering at Wednesday evening's Christmas program, which begins at 7:30, will go to the orphans' home.

BOY BREAKS LEG IN SKI ACCIDENT

Kaukauna — Donald, nine year old son of George Seibert, broke his leg last below the hip Tuesday morning while he was skiing on Escoulen Hill. The boy was taken to the hospital in Appleton Tuesday afternoon and X-ray pictures of the injury were obtained. It was expected the boy would be set Tuesday and probably will be two months before the leg will be able to be about again.

COLD STIMULATES CHARITY EFFORTS

Waupaca Will Remember Needy With Food, Clothing and Fuel at Christmas

Special to Post-Crescent

Waupaca — The cold weather has stimulated the city charities in the spirit of greater activity in preparation for the annual Christmas efforts for the needy. Twenty families are to be cared for this year, which is somewhat more than usual. The committee in charge of arrangements has not with good success in response to an appeal for groceries, etc. Fuel also is supplied to a number of families and with the clothing collected Waupaca's needy are being well taken care of during this early cold wave.

All trains reaching Waupaca on the Soo line have been two to four hours late. Christmas business by the retail merchants was for a long time. All this is due to the severe cold weather. W. F. Winters, local representative of the government's weather department reported

GERMAN FLYING LEADER RIDICULES HERO MEDAL

By Associated Press

Berlin — Lieut. Colonel Siebert, organizer of the German flying forces during the World War, has been declared an outcast by the National Association of Imperial Officers because he ridiculed the distribution of war medals by the ex-kaiser's office. He declared in a newspaper contribution that war medals were like abortions and said they "both dropped unexpectedly far back in the hinterland and hit innocent beings."

Many officers belonging to the National Association of Imperial Officers have been expelled for criticism of the imperial regime.

BURN CROSS WHILE CROWD IS SINGING

Ku Klux Klan Starts Demonstration While Public Is Gathered at Tree

(Special to Post-Crescent)

New London — The Ku Klux Klan furnished a surprise at the community singing around the Christmas tree in front of Trinity Lutheran church Tuesday evening. The program had been in progress for about 15 minutes when a fiery cross suddenly blazed up. It was five feet high and stood in the middle of the street about fifty feet from the tree.

The Rev. J. Richard Olson, pastor of Trinity church, was directing the singing. He was the first to notice the cross and immediately requested the crowd to sing a stanza of "America."

CHRISTMAS TRADE NOT UP TO AVERAGE

New London — Christmas in New London is quieter this year than usual. Businessmen report a slackening of Christmas trade this season, and the usual crowds which swarm New London's business streets just before Christmas are noticeably smaller than during previous years. It is expected however, that the 1925 Christmas will be much more lively than in previous seasons, as the year following the presidential election is prophesied to be a prosperous one.

Mr. and Mrs. D. H. MacKinnon and daughter, Miss Bebel MacKinnon have gone to Chicago to spend Christmas with relatives.

CAPACITY HOUSE AT YULE PROGRAM

Menasha — The annual Christmas entertainment of the children of the Congregational church was held at the church Tuesday evening and was attended by an audience that completely filled the edifice. A play, "Down the Chimney with Santa Claus," was presented and was followed by the distribution of gifts from a Christmas tree. Gifts were provided for all the children and were distributed by Santa Claus.

PUBLIC LIBRARY GIVEN CHRISTMAS ATMOSPHERE

Menasha — Christmas decorations are in evidence at the public library. They include a Christmas tree hand somely trimmed, Christmas pictures, wreaths in the windows and a jovial looking Santa Claus on the desk of the librarians. A jumping sack Santa Claus near the main entrance attracts the attention of children and adults who manifest interest in his wild gestures and antics. The library is visited daily by children interested in Christmas stories.

The library will be closed Christmas eve and all day Christmas.

POULTRY SHOW ENTRIES WILL CLOSE ON DEC. 28

Menasha — Arrangements are well under way for the annual show of Winnebago Poultry & Pet Stock association which opens at Menasha auditorium Wednesday, Dec. 31 and closes Sunday, Jan. 1. Entries close Dec. 28 but birds are receivable up to Dec. 30.

The poultry will be judged by George Wells of Oshkosh and the pigeons by Mr. Vanselow of Milwaukee. The judging will be done on Dec. 31. The officers plan to make the show bigger and better than ever this year.

SOCIAL ITEMS AT MENASHA

Menasha — Mrs. W. H. Whitmore will entertain a group of friends Christmas eve at Hotel Menasha.

Hay Tips Over

Menasha — Traffic on Tayco-st bridge was tied up for some time shortly before noon Wednesday by a load of hay which tipped over near the end end. The hay belonged to C. Schwartzbauer and the driver was Richard Schilling.

SPECIAL ASSEMBLY MAY MAKE GERMANY MEMBER OF LEAGUE

Council in Rome Was Expected to Take Some Action Had Berlin Applied

By Associated Press
Geneva — A special assembly of the League of Nations is expected to be held at Geneva some time this winter to vote in Germany as a member of the league. Lansing their explanation on the assumption that the German negotiations with the various powers will eventually succeed and that Germany will one day actually forward her application for membership, league officials express the opinion that the Council of the League will probably arrange for the special assembly.

It was believed that if the German negotiations had proceeded far enough and the German application were actually received in time, the council would take some action at its December meeting in Rome.

A special assembly for Germany naturally cannot wait for the arrival of delegates from distant corners of the earth. Hence it is planned that remote countries will designate their ambassadors or ministers in Europe to represent them at Geneva on this special occasion. Moreover it is probable that each country will send only one representative instead of the three official delegates who under the rules attend the annual assemblies of the league, together with their substitute delegates and numerous experts.

As Germany has been told by allied powers that her entrance into the league must be in accordance with the covenant, without special exceptions or privileges, it is of interest to note that the question of admission is covered in Article I of the covenant. This says that any fully self governing state, dominant or colony, may become a member if its admission is agreed to by two-thirds of the assembly, provided that it shall give effective guarantees of its sincere intention to observe its international obligations as may be prescribed by the league in regard to its military, naval and air forces and armaments. However, it is understood by everybody that Germany will be given a permanent seat on the council as being one of the great world powers.

CHRISTMAS TRADE HEAVY THIS YEAR

Menasha — The Christmas trade this year is quite generally conceded by merchants to have been the best in several years. Shoppers have been out in greater numbers and have been more liberal in previous years and a comparatively small amount of credit has been asked. The demand for Christmas trees has been greater this year than ever before and dealers are practically sold out.

CHRISTMAS CACTUS HAS 120 BLOSSOMS THIS YEAR

Menasha — Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Munter, 120 Broad-st. have been the owners for several years of a Christmas cactus which was never more covered with blossoms than this year. By actual count the blossoms number 120. The plant was the gift of Mrs. Munter's mother more than 20 years ago. It commences to bloom late in November and continues until two weeks after Christmas. It is usually in full bloom at Christmas time. For several years it has decorated the altar of St. Mary church at the Christmas services and was moved to that edifice Wednesday.

CHECK PASSER'S CASE DEFERRED AT OSHKOSH

Menasha — The case against Joseph Stunske for alleged issuing of worthless checks which was called at 10 o'clock Thursday morning in municipal court at Oshkosh was postponed until Jan. 5, because of the illness of District Attorney D. K. Allen. Attorney M. M. Schoetz represented the defendant.

Given Half Holiday

Menasha — Deep Rock filling station managers were notified Tuesday by their employers that they had been granted a half holiday on Christmas and New Years day. The service will be discontinued on those days at noon for the remainder of the day.

PEDLER CASE BEFORE COURT FOR DECISION

Madison — The case of state against James Moore, a Standard Oil Co., truck driver involving the collection of peddlers' fees from more than 1,000 such drivers, was taken under advisement late Monday by Judge Hoppmann in superior court here.

SENSENBRENNER IS HONORED AT DINNER ON HIS BIRTHDAY

Friends Surprise Papermill Official at Gathering at Valley Inn

Neenah — A dinner in honor of the sixtieth birthday anniversary of F. J. SENSENBRENNER was given by James W. Bergstrom Tuesday evening at Valley Inn, Neenah. Covers were laid for 40 friends of Mr. SENSENBRENNER in the main dining room. Among those from out of the city were Robert W. Baird, president of First Wisconsin Co. and Attorney W. C. Charles Milwaukee; William Bonifas, Escanaba; Moses Hooper, Edward Hooper and Mark Kavanaugh, Oshkosh.

Mr. SENSENBRENNER was born in Menasha 60 years ago Dec. 23. He grew to manhood among the people of that city, engaging himself in the postoffice with John Stunske and with Webster Manufacturing Co. He worked for a salary of $10 a month. His early ambitions to get ahead attracted the attention of the late F. C. Stuntz who offered him a 6-month trial in the Kimberly-Clark office at Neenah. That was 36 years ago. Today he holds the position of first vice-president of this big paper manufacturing concern.

While in his early twenties he was married to Margaret Stulp, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Stulp, then old residents of Neenah. The house where they spent their young married days still stands on Bond-st.

Not only is he vice president of the local paper firm, but Mr. SENSENBRENNER is vice president of the First National bank, Appleton, president of Spruce Falls Co., Canada, director of the First Wisconsin National bank, Milwaukee, president of Appleton Chan Co., trustee of Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Co. and trustee of Marquette university, Milwaukee.

Besides the above offices held by SENSENBRENNER, he is connected with several societies of the Catholic church. Recently he was made a Knight of St. Gregory the Great by Pope Pius. During the World war Mr. SENSENBRENNER was at the head of the Winnebago draft board.

The celebration in his honor was a complete surprise to Mr. SENSENBRENNER. Short talks of congratulation were given by some of the men present.

TWIN CITY TEAMS WILL PLAY OPENER

Neenah — A good curtain raiser for the Co. 1-Plymouth basketball game Thursday evening has been selected. The Neenah Lutherans will play the Menasha Hot Spots as the opener.

The regular game between Co. 1 and the Plymouth five promises to be one of keen excitement as it will be the unfinished contest of two weeks ago when Plymouth walked off the floor although 40 seconds remained for play. This team will come with the same lineup as before including Stef-fas, Peebles, Schieba brothers, White and Elliot. Co. 1 will line up with Chappelle, N. Kiesel, E. Kuehl, Christoph, Madison and Creaven. Creaven has recovered from injuries suffered in a recent game with Oshkosh.

POPSIE SPECIALS LEAD IN TOURNNEY

Neenah — Popsie Specials came into the lead Tuesday evening in the hot-fay bowling tournament at Neenah alleys with a total of 2,850. The next highest are the Goldfishes with 2,820. Krauts Lunch has 2752, First National Banks No. 1 2755, Webber Clothing 2778, Valley Inns 2761. Tuesday's games were: Popsie Specials 2880, Accounting 2550, Engineers 2507, Moonshine Delights 2704, Boosters 2622, National Banks No. 2, 2716, Jensen's Tailors 2710, Valley Inns 2761, Lakeview 2645, Sawdust Tolls 2579, Bergstrom Papers 2604 and National Banks No. 1 2758.

The Popsie Specials is the youngest team so far in the tournament. Much interest is being shown as there are games scheduled for two weeks.

gaining next Sunday evening singles and doubles will be rolled.

PUNCHBOARDS ARE CAUSE OF $25 FINE

Neenah — Gus & John, Greek restaurant operators on East Wisconsin-ave, paid a fine of $25 and costs Wednesday morning for using punchboards. After being warned they continued to operate these boards on selling candy and other merchandise. They appeared before Justice C. B. Baldwin and paid the fine after they were severely reprimanded by Police Chief Charles Watts.

ROJAS REFUSES TO FIGHT BUD GORMAN

Neenah — Ruin'on Romero Rojas, champion heavyweight of South America will not box Bud Gorman. This information was received by P. L. Callahan, Neenah, manager of Gorman, in a telegram from William T. Morrissey, Grand Rapids, Mich. Rojas, who was signed to meet Gorman at Grand Rapids on New Year's afternoon, has refused today to meet Wisconsin's idol. Capt. Bob Rojas has been substituted for the South American and will meet Gorman on the above date.

POOR GIVEN BASKETS BY CHARITABLE FOLK

Neenah — This was a basket Christmas in Neenah. Grocers here report that it would be putting it small to say that less than 1,000 baskets filled with fruit, candy, canned goods and other things for a Christmas dinner were delivered Tuesday and Wednesday. The poor were remembered by several charitable people who carried baskets and flowers to them. Some of the mills gave them employees suitable checks. Operators at the telephone exchange came in for their share of Christmas gifts.

LIEBL WILL RECEIVE SENTENCE ON FRIDAY

Neenah — William Liebl will know his fate Friday. Liebl was arrested on a charge of contributive to delinquency of 16-year-old Mary Corbett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Corbett, Neenah. He pleaded guilty to this charge and returned to jail to await sentence Friday. Judge Cass of Municipal court, Oshkosh, has had this case under advisement for two weeks.

NEENAH CONSIDERS INSTALLING ITS OWN POWER PLANT

Alderman Obtaining Figures on Municipal Operation of Utility

Neenah — Will Neenah at some future date furnish its own electric power? Alderman Robert Martin of second-ward, started the ball rolling in this direction at the last meeting of the city council. Alderman Martin had visited the new plant recently installed at Menasha and gave to the meeting a glowing account of the savings to be accomplished by that city from its new power plant. This subject has come up at several meetings of the council before but has never taken quite such a hold on the alderman in general as at the present time. Alderman Martin is securing figures on Menasha's plant which he will submit at the next meeting in order to get the subject more clearly before them. Neenah's waterworks station on the lake shore would be an ideal location for the plant. The big obstacle before Neenah will be the purchasing of lines erected by an outside power company but several of the alderman seem to think this can be accomplished.

ALCOHOL IS STOLEN FROM STANDARD OIL STATION

Neenah — Eleven gallons of alcohol was stolen Tuesday night from Standard Oil company. The barrel containing the liquid was at the station at First and North Commercial-sts and was tapped by unknown persons after the station had been closed for the night. A faucet had been broken off to enable the thieves to obtain some of the alcohol.

COOLIDGE SIGNS BILL TO COMBAT POULTRY DISEASE

Washington, D. C. — President Coolidge Wednesday signed the bill appropriating $100,000 to enable the department of agriculture to combat the European fowl plague and other diseases which have led to an embargo by New York and other eastern states against live poultry from the middlewest. The department's campaign already has been inaugurated.

PRESCRIBE FRESH AIR FOR BAD GIRL

By Associated Press
London — The English reformers' idea of making bad girls better is to give them trips to the seaside. Accordingly last year several of the detention institutions for young girls took parties of inmates to various seaside resorts, where they were given a two weeks' vacation with only the supervision of two matrons to each party of 25 girls.

Last year's outings proved so successful that nearly all similar institutions this year took up the idea and allowed their best behaved girls to have a vacation. The expenses for the trip, above what it would have cost to feed and provide for the girls at the institution, were donated by persons interested in progressive and humanizing methods in the correctional institutions of the country.

The men were ordered to the scene by J. J. Quinn, district manager. Robert Boberg of Rhinelander is the foreman and Louis Carroll of Appleton accompanied them to act as time keeper.

This crew was working at Sheboygan and is one of ten sent from Wisconsin to the stricken area. Mr. Quinn declares that 10,000 telephone poles are down in the Illinois district. NURSES ARE EAGER TO ASSIST LEPERS

English Women Volunteer to Sacrifice Lives in Service of Health

By Associated Press
London—Application by two young professional women for opportunity to enlist through the Dominican Priory at Hampstead, as nurses to lepers draws attention to the fact that English women have never hesitated to make the sacrifice which this particular form of service entails.

The superioress of the London headquarters of the Franciscan Missionaries of Mary states that when the mother-general appealed some years ago for six nurses to nurse lepers more than 1,000 volunteers, all members of the order responded.

"Today we have 1,000 members engaged in missionary work all over the world," said the mother superior. "If an appeal were made for workers in leper colonies almost all our 4,000 would be eager to go."

"As a matter of experience nearly all the girls who wish to join the order—and their average age is between 20 and 24—say that they are anxious to give their lives to the service of lepers. As we have educational and charitable undertakings in all parts of the world and as we teach in many parts of the Empire we cannot promise them all that they shall nurse lepers."

It is an extraordinary fact, attributed by the devout sisters to the special care of Divine Providence that not one of their order has ever contracted leprosy.

FLIGHT AROUND WORLD FAILS TO PROVE IT ROUND

Aviators Merely Flew in Circle, Churchman Demonstrates on Map

By Associated Press
Zion, Ill.—Flinging around the world does not prove that the earth is a globe, according to a statement of Wilbur Glenn Voliva, overseer of the Christian Catholic Apostolic Church community here who said that a glance at a map of the earth as a stationary plane would show that the journey of the world fliers proved the earth to be stationary as much as it was globular.

Mr. Voliva exhibited an ordinary map of the globe upon which he had penciled the route of the fliers. He said it showed the aviators would fly in a circle over the flat surface of the earth.

Advocates of the Copernican globe theory of the earth's shape should note the statement of Prof. R. A. Gregory, one of their foremost authorities. Mr. Voliva asserted if quoted Prof. Gregory as saying that circumnavigation on an easterly westerly direction does not prove the earth to be globular. It has been pointed out that circumnavigation would be possible on a flat surface with the north magnetic pole as its center.

The world flight does not prove conclusively either theory, but it does prove one just as much as it proves the other.

The Bible plainly and unmistakably teaches that the earth is a stationary plane, continued Mr. Voliva. He submitted abstracts from Prof. French astronomer and the late Prof. Woodhouse of Cambridge, in support of his contention.

RUSSIA HAS FREED
HELPLESS ARMENIA
FROM FEAR OF TURK

Bolshevik Regime Has Brought Peace to Desolate Little Country

By Associated Press Erivan, Armenia—Armenia, which three years ago was starving and destute, is now on its feet. If the Bolshevik regime under which the country at present exists, has not given Armenia all the political advantages and freedom its people sought, it has at least brought peace and security to the desolate little state in the northern reaches of Asia.
The Armenian no longer fears the Turkish invaders, who for hundreds of years made him a prey to their racial hatred and religious fanaticism.
Where the European armies failed to keep Turkey at bay, the Red army of the Bolsheviks has held it in repression and has given the Armenian people a chance to live their own lives unmolested by warlike neighbors.
From the standpoint of their material welfare and health, the people are better off today than they have been for many years. Officials of the government estimate that within three years the country will be self-sufficient, and within ten years it will be a prosperous community. Crops this year have been good and there is an abundant supply of food. Clothing, however, is scarce and expensive and a good part of the rural population is still clad in threadbare garments. The tens of thousands of orphan children which successive wars and massacres left in their wake are especially well off. They are being cared for by workers of the American Near East Relief organization in the huge Russian army barracks on the Alexandropol Plain.
Financially Armenia, like most other Soviet states, is not in a flourishing condition. Its deficits are met by subsidies from the Moscow exchequer. With its limited funds, however, the government is doing able work in the way of reconstruction, irrigation, hydraulic and electrification projects, the removal of marshy malarial lands, the establishment of agricultural and industrial schools, and the cultivation of cotton, silk, tobacco and vineyards.
There is considerable unemployment in the larger towns, but most of this was absorbed during the summer and fall by the need of labor for the harvest.
The Armenian government has established a splendid university at Erivan, employing 75 professors and accommodating 900 students. An equally fine library has been opened in the capital with 300,000 books, the gifts of the Armenian people themselves. Another unique institution is the Arivan Tropical Institute, which is a model pathological laboratory for the study and treatment of parasitic and epidemiological diseases, which are very prevalent in the Caucasus. This is in charge of Professor Popoff, an eminent Russian pathologist.
The government has inaugurated sanitary and hygienic stations throughout the country, where the poor are instructed in conserving their health and given free soap and disinfectants. The government is carrying on an intensive cultivation of cotton which has given remarkable results. In 1922 Armenia had only 1,250 acres of cotton under cultivation. In 1923 it had 12,500, and in 1924 this number increased to 40,000 acres.
The desire for independence and freedom from foreign domination still prevail in the Armenian people, and their hope is that in the course of time a way will be found of detaching them from the tutelage of Moscow.
So far as can be judged by outward appearances, Communism has taken no deep hold on the people. While all those in power in the government are Armenians of Bolshevik persuasion, who have the approval of Moscow,
the total number of registered Communist in the country is extremely small. Out of a population of 1,100,000, only 1,914 avowed members of the Communist party.
But it must be said again that the Bolsheviks have given Armenia a new lease of life by protecting the country and people from the hordes of their ancient enemy, the Turks. They have helped the country financially

Illicit Liquor Traffic Piles Shores of Washington with Cargoes

By Associated Press
Tacoma, Wash.—The days of treasure seekers after pirate caches may be gone for the storied South Seas, but they are just beginning for the residents along the ocean beaches of this state. More than one vessel, laden with liquor from British Columbia and bound for ports in Washington, Oregon and California, has piled up on one of the beaches as the result of gales or poor navigation or both.
Such a vessel soon is pounded to pieces by the surf, and the liquor on board buried in the sea or scattered among the driftwood along the shore to await the discovery of treasure seekers.
The last run-around to suffer
such a fate was the tallbut boat Alfa laden with 212 cases of whiskey and gin. It is believed that the Alfa was headed for Willapa Harbor north of the Columbia river. A storm buffeted the craft and evidently opened up her seams. To save themselves the crew headed for the beach at high tide. They escaped leaving the Alfa at the mercy of waves and sand. Defiant customs officers arrived much of the liquor had been removed, and the rest of the cargo could not be salvaged because the waves had dug a "grave" for the vessel. But the sea gradually will work the wreck into the beach and put the liquor within reach of industrious and thirsty treasure hunters.

partment has instructed its consuls in China to issue nonimmigrant pas-ports to students in those institutions recognized by the United States gov-

CANADIAN TRIBE MURDERS BOY TO LAY EVIL SPIRIT

Lad Is Sacrificed When Offerings of Animals Fail to Bring Results

By Associated Press
Wrangell, Alaska—Killing and torturing members of the tribe having failed to drive away evil spirits that were causing hunger and disease an Indian in the Lard district of Canada, hanged a dog daily until he had put to death his whole sled team.

This was one of the tales that trickled through to Wrangell by means of gold prospectors after a party of Canadian Royal Mounted Police passed through here recently bound for Vancouver, B. C. with five Indians accused of torturing to death Moccasin, a lad of 17. The boy was said to have been buried while he still breathed.

Legends that the Indians of the wilds of northern British Columbia and southern Yukon commonly tortured and slew fellow tribesmen for beings friends and companions of injurious spirits have long been common among prospectors.

Five months ago Frank Bass, factor for the Hudson's Bay Company at Fort Lard, Yukon Territory, reported to Canadian authorities that Big Aleck, a Cree Indian living on the Mackenzie river, had told him that nomad Indians from the Nelson river, in British Columbia, had murdered a boy accused of witchcraft. The crime was placed at 40 miles south of Fort Lard.

Superintendent Knight of the Royal Police, stationed at Vancouver, sent a patrol to investigate. The Lard district was reached after traveling hundreds of miles on foot with pack dogs and navigating the swift lower Lard river by canoe. Big Aleck, when found, repudiated the story. The party of three policemen, commanded by Inspector T. V. San derson, camped near the suspected Indians.

Patently studying the territory, the investigators came on a hole in which they found the body of a boy with his hands tied behind him.

After that confessions from the Indians came easily. These were to the effect that Eddy, a squaw, had suspended Moccasin head downward from a sapling to drive away evil spirits, after Big Aleck had dreamed that the lad was a sorcerer. A girl, Lucy, found Moccasin hanging there and begged that he be cut down. Lucy said that the lad was alive when put into the hole, but other Indians asserted that he was killed first by hitting him on the head with a rock.

The police arrested Eddy, her three brothers, Dan, Jimmy and Clem and Big Aleck, and took them to Fort Lard. At a hearing there the inspector, a magistrate, decided that the prisoners should go to Vancouver for trial.

The three policemen brought the prisoners out to Wrangell, traveling 1,000 miles on foot and by canoe. No police had been in the Lard district since 1892.

Kaukauna Man Hurt

While returning from a boxing match at Fond du Lac last week, Walter Brown of Kaukauna was injured when his touring car went into a ditch about eight miles south of Oshkosh. Mr. Brown was taken to an Oshkosh hospital to have several stitches taken on his right hand which was badly cut. The car was damaged considerably, when it struck the ditch it tipped over, breaking the top as well as the steering wheel, the front axle, a fender and other parts.

Secretary Seeks $70,000

Claims aggregating $70,000 have been made against the estate of Dr. John W. Perkins of Kansas City, Mo. by Mary D. Hook, 20 years old confidential secretary. Shortly before his death the doctor who was one of the best known surgeons in the middle west, signed two notes for $25,000 each payable to her. Miss Hook alleges Trial of her suit has just brought out that during all the years of her employment, the plaintiff never met Dr. Perkins' wife, one of the defendants.

DORMITORY MEN HAVE YULE PARTY IN Y. M. C. A.

Dormitory men of the Y. M. C. A. were entertained at a Christmas party in the mens' lobby Tuesday evening. A large Christmas tree occupied the center of the room and gifts were distributed. Each man was compelled to read a comic verse about himself, which came with his gift. The latter part of the evening was spent in telling stories in front of a large wood fire.

This part of the program was featured by My Most Embarrassing Moment told by Al Henry. Apples, candy, doughnuts and cider were served to the guests.

Close Boys' Section
The boys' department of the Y. M. C. A. will be closed from 5 o'clock Wednesday evening until Friday morning. No secretaries will be in charge and all activities will be closed.

ARTIST EXPLAINS HORNS ON MOSES

By Associated Press
Chicago — How the statues of Moses came to be made with short horns protruding from each side of the forehead, is explained by Lorado Taft, noted sculptor here, to have been due to the improper translation of the word "glory" by sculptors of that period.

The Hebrew word for "glory" also meant "horn," Mr. Taft said, "and in translating it into Greek the word 'horn' was used instead of 'glory' ever.

Hence the sculptors of the period literally carried into effect this improper translation.

"Thus in the great statue of Moses, by Michael Angelo, we see Moses equipped with horns. The original of the Angelo statue was of heroic size, in marble, and was designed for the tomb of Julius II; but the tomb was never finished and the statue is now in the Church of San Pietro, in Vincola, Rome."

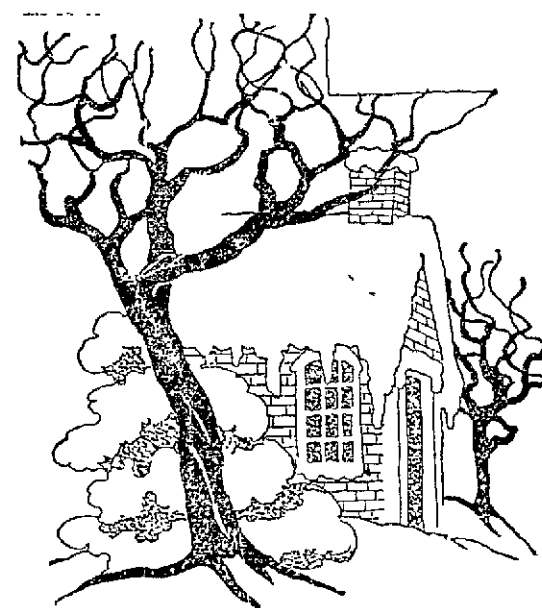

Furnace Causes Fire

An overheated furnace caused a small fire in the home of J. T. Cohen, 963 Tawest, at about 11:30 Tuesday noon. Nap, lint and similar refuse which had fallen through the register of the pipeless furnace caught fire. No translating it into Greek the word damage was done to the building, however.

DEPARTMENT HEADS
WATCH TRAFFIC JAM

Some unusual elements presented themselves in the production of "My Man," which will be shown at the New Bijou theatre on Thursday and Friday. The traffic jam created in the story as a means of introducing several of the featured players, gave the company most concern. In this sequence it was necessary to tie up an entire street. Street cars, autos and other vehicles being tangled up in an apparent inextricable jam. It is during the efforts of the police to clear the traffic that the action of the sequence takes place.

The traffic tie up was staged under special police protection, and so planned that the fire department, police department or any emergency call upon which the public welfare and safety depends had thoroughfare to the removal of not more than two or three vehicles. It was an engineering feat, but was successfully arranged by the use of special cars and drivers at the street crossing. The drivers were trained as to time, space and speed, so that after the jam was created they could move simultaneously with the sound of the whistle and in less than thirty seconds the crossing was cleared. It has been said that as the large circus have taught the army mobilization, so can the "movies" teach some of the ways of avoiding or clearing traffic tieups.

DOUGLAS MACLEAN IN ANOTHER COLLIER SUCCESS

Douglas MacLean is coming back to the Elite theatre on Christmas day to the greatest comedy achievement of his career.

"Never Say Die," his latest screen triumph, is an adaption of one of "Vilke Collier's" greatest successes, a piece which kept Broadway laughing for a year and also played for three successive seasons on the road. The play was also presented in London, Australia and other world centers where it swept audiences off their feet and broke attendance records. But the screen version is said to be even more funny and thrilling than was possible through the limited medium of the stage.

Douglas MacLean is cast in the role of a wealthy young fellow who if he doesn't marry, will have his fortune go to charity. So it is arranged for him to wed a beautiful girl who will become his sole heir. The fun begins when a gunman is hired to put him quietly out of the way—so his wife can marry her original fiancé who is his best friend—a divorce being too slow and complicated. Douglas' attempt to evade this killed and a host of other difficulties form the basis of the plot. His final attempt to escape his pursuers in a dilapidated hackney-cab is said to be about the

AGNES AYRES IN "WORLDLY GOODS"

Agnes Ayres comes to the Appleton Theatre on Xmas in the Paramount picture, "Worldly Goods." The screen version of the Ladies Home Journal serial by Sophie Kour, Pat O'Malley, Victor Varconi and Edythe Chapman head the supporting cast.

The production is a modern matrimonial farce of newlyweds.

"Old stuff" you say? Not this one. The story is one of a promising young man (and that's the trouble with him—he's all promise and no performance), a loose-tongued automobile salesman who sells himself to a pretty young girl with his big talk and ambitions. Pat O'Malley is "Fried Hopper," the salesman, and Miss Ayres has the role of "Eleanor Lawson," secretary to "Clifford Ramsay," manager of a big department store, a part played by Victor Varconi. Edythe Chapman portrays "Mrs. Lawson" in the production and Earl Woodruff is the father. Others in the cast are Maude George in a vamp role, Cecile Evans and Otto Lederer.

"Hopper," before marriage, promises "Eleanor" the world with a string on it. After she discovers that he was just stinging her along, Ramsay is also in love with "Eleanor" and when the latter comes to believe her husband is more than passingly interested in a married woman, he suggests she end the thing right there in the divorce court.

Some great comedy scenes follow, comical for audiences, that is, but all too serious for Hopper. Although he has cleared a small fortune in a deal in real estate, Fred feels that the triumph is an empty one now that he is about to lose the one he loves best in the world. But a reconciliation is effected and Hopper informs her wife that now all his promises are to be materialized.

A tag shows them living happily "ever after."

"Worldly Goods," adapted for the screen by A. F. Younger, was directed

CHINESE WOMAN
BANDIT IS SLAIN

Feminine Robber Is Put to Death by Most Terrible of Tortures

By Associated Press

Shanghai—"Old Mother" Djao, said to be the most notorious and blood thirsty bandit the province of Shan tung ever produced, has been executed at Ichowfu in Shangtung, according to reports received in Shanghai by mission organizations. These advices add that the dreaded feminine bandit underwent that most fearsome of Chinese death penalties, the ling-che, or in English, the slicing process.

Forty-seven years old and an expert horsewoman, "Old Mother" Djao led a band of several hundred outlawed men who terrorized a broad area. It is related of her that last summer she planned an attack against Ichowfu after calling to her aid two added groups of bandits. They had assembled at a place near the village of Balhsiang when a homeguard of villagers, known as the "Big Knife Society" apprised of their purpose, attacked them and suffered utter defeat.

The villagers were driven back into Balhsiang and the bandits followed them. Then the gates of the village were closed and every man was shot down. Sixty women and children there were lined up, and "Old Mother" Djao was asked what to do with them. Her orders to kill them all were carried out with the result that every man, woman and child who was within the walls after the gates had been closed was slain. Even the cattle and dogs of the village suffered the same fate. Ling-che is simply vivisection done by experts in such a manner that the victim survives in a conscious state through hours of a terrible ordeal.

MANY PILGRIMS
WILL VISIT ROME

Rome.—The organizing committee for the Holy Year has already received announcements of 85 pilgrimages to Rome during 1925.

One pilgrimage from Argentina is due to arrive Christmas Eve, the day before the Holy Year opens. A thousand English pilgrims are coming in the following May. The Maltese pilgrimage will arrive in August. The International Association of Catholic Youth is sending representatives in September and other pilgrims are coming to Rome from Mexico, Quebec, Montreal, Minnesota, Michigan and the Philippines at dates yet to be fixed.

The largest number of pilgrims yet announced is from Germany, from which a group of 1,000 pilgrims is being organized every ten days. Six hundred Chinese are expected in January. Cuban pilgrims are arriving in February and a body of French war widows in April. Other pilgrimages are being arranged from Palestine, Syria and Egypt.

People of France are buying fewer cars than in recent years and French automobile factories are curtailing production.

RUSCO BRAKE LINING

will stop your car
ON COMMAND/
RUSCO Automobile Products

82 ft.

BAD brakes, records show, are the greatest menace to life and property. Good brakes, then, will prevent damage and save lives. No one really courts an accident. Line your brakes with Rusco. Rusco out-tests all the standards for a super-quality brake lining.

Stops! in 82 feet—
going 40 miles an hour!

YOUR brakes are all right, say Police Department tests, if your car stops in 148 feet going 40 miles an hour. Rusco out-tests all the standards set by Automotive Engineers and Police Experts. You can stop a two-ton car, with brakes lined with Rusco and properly adjusted, in 82 feet. A great difference!

Here's the reason

THE stopping efficiency of the brake is in the lining. The braking surface of the lining rests on the kind of Asbestos it is made of. Shoddy Asbestos will not do. Canadian Crystalline Asbestos only goes into Rusco. And only the giant looms, patented, built and used exclusively by the Russell Co., can weave this mineral-metal fabric. Rusco's "packed-in" solid weave makes long wear doubly sure.

NOTWITHSTANDING its proved superiority in tests and in day-in-and-day-out service, Rusco costs no more than the shoddy kind. Careful buying will certainly help to make sure your safety. Insist that the repair man or dealer give you Rusco.

THE RUSSELL
MANUFACTURING COMPANY
Established 1830
Middletown, Conn.

Your repair man pays more for RUSCO than any other brake lining
—but he doesn't charge you more!

IN GIVING you Rusco—the finest quality brake lining it is possible for the repair man to obtain—he accepts a less profit than if he sold you any other brand.

You can depend upon such a man. It takes time and money to reline your brakes. It isn't a job you want done every day. When your brakes do need re-lining, be sure to get the benefit of Rusco's superiority and the conscientious service of a repair man who is willing to take less profit in order to give you a better job.

ONLY 15 STATES IN UNION PLACE TAX ON INCOMES

Wisconsin Suffers Because of Heavy Taxes Placed on Industry

Voters in most other states do not favor a state income tax. Florida, Michigan and Oregon recently went on record as decidedly opposed to that form of taxation, leaving Wisconsin with the highest income tax rate of any industrial state having such a tax.

By an overwhelming vote 5 to 1, the people of Florida adopted a constitutional amendment prohibiting both income and inheritance taxation. Florida is making a strong bid for wealthy residents from other states. Already a large number of former Wisconsin people have moved there, and recent action will no doubt result in an increasingly rapid influx of wealth to that state.

"Why should I remain in Wisconsin and pay more in unfair taxes than it costs me to live in even greater luxury and comfort in Florida?" a former Wisconsin man recently remarked to George F. Kull, secretary of the Wisconsin Manufacturers' Association. "We did not want to move out of Wisconsin, but we got to a point where we couldn't stand the drain."

The amount of income taxes that men and his wife paid in Wisconsin must be made up by those who stay here.

Coming closer to home, in more senses than one, the rejection of the income tax in Michigan is significant and important. Michigan is an industrially competitive state. By voting down the income tax, that state continues its advantage over the people in Wisconsin. Every disadvantage to business means loss to the great masses, just as business booms mean gain to the masses.

The Pacific coast, too, is coming to its senses as regards income taxation. Oregon voters kicked out the income tax after they had tried it long enough to learn that it is not a good thing for a state unless all competitive states have one too. Oregon recognized the income tax as a hindrance to the state's development, and abolished it.

There are now only fifteen states left in the country where there is a state income tax. Of all the industrial states, Wisconsin's rate is the highest, running from 1 to 7 per cent. Add to this the constant threat of still more burdensome tax legislation, and it is easy to understand why capital is being frightened out of Wisconsin.

ICE IS IN GOOD SHAPE FOR SKATING

Ice skating has superceded all other sports as the chief outdoor sport, it seems. Since the various rinks in the city were flooded and put into use about ten days ago the crowds have become larger and larger. Children now enjoying their Christmas vacation are making great use of the rinks during the day, while night brings out a large number of older skaters.

Rinks are maintained in practically every ward, and they are usually located on school property. The Jones park rink is no longer under the jurisdiction of the street department but is being looked after by the park board. A city employee visits the rinks every morning to scrape off the snow like shavings of ice that accumulate from day to day. Instead of flooding the rinks whenever the ice becomes rough, street department workers sprinkle it, which eliminates the rolling in the ice.

BAND, UNDER NEW DIRECTOR, PLAYS CONCERT MONDAY
Edward F. Mumm Appointed Head of 120th Field Artillery Band

The indoor winter band concerts of the 120th Field Artillery band will be resumed with a concert at Lawrence Memorial chapel Monday evening with a new director in charge. Edward F. Mumm, who was band director here twelve years ago, is installed as director of the Artillery band. Capt. Eric D. Lindberg, a liaison officer of the staff of the 120th regiment, retains the military supervision of the band.

After the resignation last October of Fred H. Runkel, who succeeded Professor Percy Pullinwider last spring, the latter again assumed the leadership of the band, but only until a permanent director could be obtained.

Mr. Mumm came back to Appleton from Chicago about a month ago to open a studio here. He also is director in the orchestra in Fisher's Appleton theater. Mr. Mumm has established a number of bands in and near Chicago and was conductor of the Woodlawn and was conductor of the Knights Templar in New Orleans. He conducted the 300-piece Women's band of Chicago during the Pageant of Progress held in that city.

The new director intends to give the music loving public of Appleton a pleasing variety of programs ranging from the heavy overtures to the lighter concert music, and plans to intersperse the band programs with good vocal and dance numbers.

Rehearsals are being held regularly and an excellent program is being prepared for the concert Monday evening. It will begin at 8:15, and those attending are urged to be in their seats early.

CARRIERS SHARE FEAST AND MOVIE

Annual Party Is Held by Post Publishing Company for Its Newsboys

One-hundred ten carriers of Appleton Post-Crescent were given a feast and a movie Tuesday night in accordance with the annual custom of the Post Publishing Co.

The boys gathered at the T. M. C. A. for the supper and then went to Fisher's Appleton theater, where they were guests of Louis Lutz, manager at the motion picture performance. A block of seats was reserved for the young army of newspaper delivery boys.

Carriers from Appleton, Kaukauna, Little Chute, Kimberly, Combined Locks and Waverly were guests of the company at the gathering.

BOYS' CHOIR SINGS CAROLS ON STREETS

A junior boys' choir of 32 voices under the direction of Dr. Earl Baker of Lawrence college went from place to place in the downtown district Tuesday night singing Christmas carols.

The boys sang a few songs at the city jail and police station to help cheer in a measure the prisoners and lodgers in the cells. They sang to the members of the fire and police departments in appreciation for the watch they keep over the lives and property of the citizens. They sang to the traveling men at Conway hotel to put cheer into the hearts of the men who are spending their Christmas far away from home. Carols also were sung on College-ave. They also intended to sing at St. Elizabeth hospital, but had to postpone the engagement until later.

All songs were sung in four part harmony and were much appreciated by the audiences. The boys meet once a week for rehearsals at the Lawrence Conservatory of Music and enjoy their training.

RADIO PROGRAMS

Rufus Lowell, 507 Elm-st., was the winner of first prize in a recent contest conducted by WTRB, Wisconsin department of markets station at Stevens Point. Everyone hearing the station was requested to drop a card. These were placed in a hat and the prize winners names were drawn. Mr. Lowell will receive radio equipment as his prize.

Tuesday nights program was the best and clearest of the week. This was especially true of the eastern stations. WGY presented a group of organ selections that were unexcelled and the Brunswick hour of music from KDKA was first-class entertainment.

WBZ has a big program for Wednesday evening, featuring a concert by the Orpheus Club Ensemble. Christmas Carols by the organist and choir of First Unitarian society of Newton and a program of popular by Leo Reisman and his Hotel Brunswick orchestra. KDKA has a program of chimes at 12 o'clock. WOCO presents a special Christmas eve program by the Palmer school radio orchestra.

KOA, our new friend at Denver, has the most complete and finest Christmas program of the west. It ranges from Christmas carols by quartette and glee clubs to soloists on the violin, piano, trombone, and several other instruments. Tenors, sopranos, basses, altos and all classes of singers also are included, enough for an enjoyable Christmas eve. Merry Christmas to all radio fans and may this be a real radio Christmas.

KYNE'S NEW BOOK

Lots of Adventure and Excitement in Pages of "The Enchanted Hill"

BY ELEANOR WING

An extraordinary, transplanted New Englander dominates "The Enchanted Hill," latest novel by Peter B. Kyne, published by Cosmopolitan. The hero gravely points his gun at each character in turn, causing considerable confusion and much side-stepping. If it were not for the fact that Lee Purdy doesn't swear, exultate or glory in the pride of his fathers, one might suspect that the hero of "The Pride of Palomar" was a relative of his. The same theme of a fight for the landed estate which can only be won by much bloodshed, conveys a kinship between the two novels. The character, but arbitrary treatment of the heroine also shows a great similarity. But the later novel is not as powerful as "The Pride of Palomar," he cause the New England hero of the former lacks the fiery, inherited pride of a long race of Spanish gentlemen, which furnishes color and realism to the latter book. Purdy gives many evidences of the fact that he is transplanted that it is difficult to believe his love for "La Cuesta Encantada" (The Enchanted Hill) his estate in New Mexico, is sincere. Certainly it is not inart.

The characters taking part in the fight for "The Enchanted Hill" are these:

Gail Ormsby, the rather easily influenced Californian whose idea of New Mexico ranch life has been gleaned entirely from the movies. She has a hard time deciding whether her manager, Ira Todd, or the fascinating Lee Purdy is trying to defraud her of her estate. Needless to say, the most charming man wins, and Miss Ormsby becomes a coal baroness.

Hallie Purdy, the invalid sister of Lee Purdy, for whom "The Enchanted Hill" has been secured resembles the angelic Beth in Alcott's "Little Women," and is almost too good to be true. However, her love for her brother and her implicit faith in him are well described by the author, and Hallie shows some cleverness in reading the thoughts of people around her.

Lee Purdy, the combination of Yankee James Russell Lowell and Buffalo Bill, is invariably right, and always wins what he points his gun at; this latter pastime is his favorite stunt. He has a rather interesting sense of humor, which is usually satisfied at the expense of his enemies. "God is good," murmured Purdy, "and the devil's not so bad once you get well acquainted with him."

Jasper Doak, the villain who is responsible for the whole trouble about Gail Ormsby's property. He is a lean, sallow, and avaricious man, with a belittling pompadour, and shows no sentiment in any business affair. He is rather pathetically true to type, and is best explained as the unscrupulous scoundrel, who resorts to murder to achieve his purpose.

Ira Todd, the manager of Miss Ormsby's estate, whose chief characteristic is his ability to argue. He could convince anyone, and lie about any subject intelligently. But, he is also true to type, and is always seen running away from danger.

And last, and by far the best are Tommy Scalfie and Link Hollowell, who are Purdy's buddies, and body guards in every sort of danger. They are unscrupulous, lovable musketeers and in a humorous, devil-may-care way, supply the finest material in the book.

With The Lovers Of Books
Bold Historic Courtesan
Heroine Of Hughes Novel

HISTORIC JUMEL MANSION IN NEW YORK USED BY WASHINGTON AS HIS HEADQUARTERS, AND INSET BETTY JUMEL, FROM A PAINTING THAT HANGS IN THE LANDMARK. BETTY IS THE DARING HEROINE OF RUPERT HUGHES' NEW NOVEL.

"The woman does not pay, and pay and pay, as the old saying would have us believe," sighs Rupert Hughes, the popular novelist. Du Barry and down through the years of women of powerful personality have attained to the highest positions through sin. Of course, there is nothing more hideous than the mediocre courtesan. And to be bad charmingly and with success requires rare natural talents.

Whereupon he sits down and writes "The Golden Ladder" (Harpers), in which he rakes the coals of our own revolutionary times and takes as his daring heroine Betty Jumel.

Betty Jumel began life in the gutter and by devious methods became mistress of the historic Jumel mansion, belle of royalty's throne-room, wife of Aaron Burr, hostess to Lafayette, hostess to Louis Napoleon and no end of historic persons.

The Jumel Mansion today is one of the most famed of America's historic landmarks. From this house upon a hill overlooking New York, George Washington issued his orders.

Tens of thousands of tourists visit it annually. About the walls are portraits of General Washington by half a dozen masters, and close by are portraits of Betty Jumel.

One is a portrait painted at the age of 73 and inscribed: "The Madame Widow of the late Aaron Burr. Formerly Mme. Jumel, the Heroine of New York."

Nearby hangs a picture of Betty done when she was a girl, and bearing the inscription, "Mme. De La Croix," a name adopted as souvenir of a passing love affair.

In glaring contrast to the times of Betty Jumel, the winding walk that leads to the mansion is lined, on any sunny day, with housewives and nursemaids who bring their baby carriages and sewing to sit beneath the venerable trees.

Time was when Betty would have given almost anything for the recognition of respectability. Hughes tells in his book how Betty adopted a child in the hope that haughty New York matrons would be moved to speak to her as she drove by. They smiled upon the child, but would not lift their eyes to Betty.

"Betty went far but she did not achieve her heart's desire," relates Hughes. "Of course, few people do that, particularly those who have huge ambitions. She began in shame and rags and achieved royal raiment. She was given furniture by Napoleon Bonaparte and Empress Josephine. She entertained historic men and women, but virtuous society matrons would not accept her. Yet today booklets issued to tourists, 'Coquetry,' Mr. Hughes continued, 'is a function of the gentler sex among animals and birds as well as among mankind.'

"With all deference to the truly and sincerely good, many men remain honest only because they lack the self-confidence to adventure into dishonesty, and many women must remain honest because their mirrors or their social failures warn them against attempting conquests for which they are not equipped. However, beauty is not essential to the conquest of man. George Sand had a face like a horse but she had great success with men and many brilliant lovers.

"The average woman in the office and the drawing room uses the very notion of the courtesan only with less recklessness and perhaps less skill. The good woman who is sociably in company fences without drawing blood. She is like a boxer who boxes for points and not for knock-outs. It might be better to say that the courtesan uses for evil purposes the arts of charm, enhance-ment and delight that the honest woman uses for the beautifying and ennobling of existence."

Just before the annual institute council of the Epworth league of the Methodist Episcopal church, "The youth of today is all right," he asserted. "It has its temptations and shortcomings, but it is far ahead of the youth of any generation the world has known."

NOVEL POPULAR

Harcourt, Brace and Company announce the eighth printing of E. M. Forster's novel of Anglo-Indian life, "A Passage to India."

EVERYBODY READS
FICTION THIS WEEK

Anne Douglas Sedgwick's Story Still Is in Greatest Demand

Fiction has been the choice of the great majority of the reading public last week. The list of most popular books compiled by Appleton Public Library contains one book of non-fiction. The favorites are much the same, for the most popular were "The Little French Girl," by Anne Douglas Sedgwick, "The Enchanted Hill," by Peter B. Kyne and "Rose of the World" by Kathleen Norris.

Others that were extremely popular were "Safety First" by Margot Neville, "The Passionate Quest" by E. Phillips Oppenheim and "The Needle's Eye" by Arthur Train. While the requests for the Train book have not been so numerous, its circulation has been more steady than others which have achieved a wide circulation on the strength of the author's reputation.

In the children's department the best circulators were Roosevelt's "Ranch Life and the Hunting Trail" and "Life of Theodore Roosevelt" by Herman Hagedorn.

"The Needle's Eye" by Arthur Train, is, briefly, the story of John Graham, heir at an early age to the vast Graham interests which center about the great banking house of Graham and company. The story of his career sets forth the life of the extremely wealthy, the ways of men of great affairs, the conflict between them and labor. There is, of course, the usual love element included.

POET RETURNS

Louis Untermeyer, poet, will return at the end of the holidays from a year of travel on the continent. He has recently been working on a translation of the short stories of a German writer, Gottfried Keller, which will be published by Harcourt, Brace and company next fall under the title of "The Fate of the Cat and Other Stories."

of the great intellects of the nineteenth century, would class him with the world's greatest poets; if he could have known that in the quarter century after he died at least six learned men would write biographies of him; and if he could have known that hundreds of thousands of college professors the world over for hundreds of years to come would write learned commentaries on his rough-spoken verse, well, then poverty might not have seemed so galling and he could have borne the reproaches on his thriftily neighbors with a self-confident smile.

There was hardly a man in Scotland during Burns' lifetime who was not more unsuccessful than he was. True, he had published a couple of slender volumes of poetry but even those had been failures. He was the typical prophet without honor in his country. There were scores of poetsasters whose poetry was regarded as immeasurably greater than the work of Burns, and the learned men of Burns' day smiled when his name was mentioned. Oh, yes, he could rhyme a little but he was not to be regarded as a poet. Why, he was only a clodhopper, without rank, without money, without influence. He a poet. It was to laugh.

And when such an attitude toward him is universal even a great poet may be presumed to come to the conclusion at last: when the final day of his life comes, that he has failed completely. The world very probably did not appear to Burns as we almost unconsciously assume today that it must have appeared to him. This is worth keeping in mind while reading him. It will make for a truer understanding of his poetry.

HOW THE WORLD LOOKED TO ROBERT BURNS

Re-reading Carlyle's "Essay on Burns" recently after a lapse of perhaps 50 years the fact struck me for the first time that nine chances out of ten Burns to his dying day did not think of himself as a world figure. It is very likely that the thought could not have come to Burns at any time that some day he would achieve the honor of having a cigar named after him.

When Burns died in 1796 he had achieved a little local fame. He had been to Edinburgh twice and he had traveled a little in the highlands of Scotland. He was like a man in America who lived within a radius of a hundred miles from Chicago, who has visited that city twice and who had become known to a few there; a man moreover, whose fame was not strong enough to last out his second visit, who went back to his barren little farm in Michigan or Wisconsin or Illinois and died there at the age of 37, a man whose death would hardly cause a ripple ten miles from his home and so poor that his family would have a hard time paying his funeral expenses.

Such a man in America today, lying on his deathbed, could not reasonably suppose that some day he would be regarded as a great poet, one of the greatest the Anglo-Saxon race has produced. And that was Burns' plight. When as a schoolboy I read Carlyle's essay, the fact of Burns' poverty and financial failure did not seem so very pitiful; there were compensations, I argued as a boy—the tremendous compensation of the knowledge that he was one of the world's great poets.

But a closer examination of the proper facts does not bear out this idea of compensation. When Robert Burns was on his deathbed he probably felt that he was a complete failure in every respect also. And those most intimately associated with him very likely felt that. At 37 he had not yet succeeded in making what could be called a living. It is likely that he was compared unfavorably with every country clodhopper in the whole neighborhood and it is also altogether likely that in spite of his poetry he suffered the sting of that reproach. We know that once it became so distasteful to him that he was on the point of running away from it to the West Indies.

NEEDN'T HAVE SUFFERED

Looking at a figure like Burns in the retrospect we are often in the habit of assuming that he appeared to himself as he appears to us. If Burns could have known that in less than 30 years after his death Carlyle, one

U. S. ATTORNEY IS TO DECIDE WHO IS TO PAY FOR BRIDGE

Engineers Want Little Chute Bridge Raised Sixteen Inches

The question of who shall pay for the changes which United States government engineers desire to be made in the Little Chute bridge will be one for the United States attorney general's department to settle, it was brought out at the hearing conducted in the local office Monday afternoon. Maj. Gilbert Van B. Wilkes, head of the district office at Milwaukee, was in charge. Representatives of the county and of Little Chute were also present and took part in the discussion.

The engineers will recommend to the war department that the bridge be raised 15 inches and that some mechanical means of operating the drawbridge be installed. At the present, these defects are not only an obstruction to navigation but also a hindrance to the improvement work on the river aimed to protect property against floods. All other government property has been raised to a corresponding level.

Outagamie co highway committee, represented by Chairman William Rohan, Louis C. Jens and Highway Commissioner A. G. Brusewitz, declared that nothing was to be found in the records that the county had ever aided in the upkeep of the bridge. It was pointed out that if the city of Kaukauna pays for the upkeep of the drawbridge, the village of Little Chute should do the same in its case. Anton Jansen, president of the village, Attorney Thomas H. Ryan, legal counsel, and A. E. McMahon, consulting engineer for Little Chute, represented the village.

The costs for the improvements, it was estimated, would not exceed $500.

CANNON ARGUES FOR GASOLINE TAX

Milwaukee—Asserting that the proposed gasoline tax for road purposes was not really a tax, but a service charge on motor vehicle owners for road use, F. A. Cannon, Executive Secretary of the Good Roads Association of Wisconsin, in an address before the Milwaukee Motor Club, advocated a gasoline tax of three cents a gallon, as necessary if Wisconsin wished to keep up an adequate road program.

Mr. Cannon warned his hearers that our neighboring states, Minnesota, Michigan and Illinois would quickly outstrip us at the present rate. Illinois has voted road bonds in the sum of $100,000,000 and Minnesota is starting a road program on a bond issue of $100,000,000, both bond issues wholly financed by imposts on motor vehicles. Michigan has bonded for $50,000,000 and Iowa is agitating one of $50,000,000.

"The next five years should see the main arteries from Milwaukee to St. Paul and LaCrosse, Green Bay to Eau Claire, Beloit to Ashland, Eau Claire to Superior, and other main arteries, surfaced, if we are to have an adequate state road system. Under present financial arrangements it would take ten to fifteen years. Given a 3 cent gas tax and it would be finished in five years."

PRIZE FOR GIRL WHO SELLS MOST CALENDARS

SCHOOL NURSE URGES VACCINATION IN COUNTY

School boards in the rural districts of the county have been urged by Miss Marie Klein, county nurse, to take an active part in stressing vaccination to prevent small pox.

If the present increase of small pox continues in the county, Miss Klein informed the school clerks, it will mean a loss of much school time. The county nurse suggests that all pupils become vaccinated during the Christmas vacation to be prepared against exposure to the disease.

FEWER HUNTING LICENSES SOLD HERE THIS YEAR

Although this year's hunting season started off with a rush for hunting licenses, the demand weakened as the season progressed, and the number of licenses probably will fall short of last year's mark, according to John E. Hantschel, county clerk. It is believed that less than 3,000 licenses were sold from the office and the various sub-stations in the county this year. The number issued last year exceeded 3,000 by several hundred and was the most sold in years. The sale of trapping licenses also is being short of last year's. The county clerk has sold 225 licenses and 1,500 trapping tags.

Work on New Edifice at Delhi Goes on Despite Many Interruptions

By Associated Press
London—Despite unforeseen obstacles and many delays incident to the great war, the work of rearing the new Indian capital at Delhi has gone steadily on and latest reports to the India office indicate that the first of the new buildings will be occupied by the end of next year.

This will be realized, one of the greatest building achievements of modern times. The new Indian capital is rising from a desolate and barren waste. The present English monarch, as king-emperor at his coronation durbar in 1912, announced the decision to transfer the capital of India from Calcutta to Delhi, not the old city of that name, but an entirely new municipality to rise from a reclaimed desert outside and beyond the older settlement.

It was in 1913 that the town planning committee reported in favor of the so-called Raisini site, beyond old Delhi. Although the intervening years of war and reconstruction have doubled the expense of the original project, which will cost at least $45,000,000 and many more millions in years to come, the work has never once been suspended since it was started.

The principal architect of the new Delhi is Sir Edwin Lutyens, who plans to make it his crowning achievement. Associated with Sir Edwin is Herbert Baker and a score of lesser famous architects.

Sir Edwin Lutyens himself is the architect of the government house, the central building of the whole scheme, which will contain among other official quarters the state residence of the viceroy. It is now promised that this building will be ready for occupancy late in 1926.

Sir Edwin Lutyens and his associates are engaged in a work not unlike that which Major L'Enfant achieved in laying out the city of Washington. Each was given the task of preparing plans for a city to be built from the very beginning. In the scheme for the Indian capital, the government house will occupy a pivotal position in the municipality not unlike that which the capitol holds in Washington.

The parliament buildings at Delhi will be less ambitious. Present expectations are that they will be ready for occupancy early in 1926. Brick and white marble are the materials used in constructing the new Delhi. Architecturally the style is classical with skillful blending and adaptation of oriental domes, minarets and arched.

The governmental buildings constitute only part of the new city. Included in the original plans are some 1,600 houses for governmental officers of all ranks and 1,100 more for clerks. This of course is only the beginning. Complete systems of streets and highways with the necessary public utilities are being constructed with ample provision for recreation grounds such as cricket and football fields.

Churches and public assembly halls are contemplated and ultimately, but this may be far in the future, a fully equipped university plant, will serve as the capstone of the great undertaking. The rate at which all these schemes can be realized depends wholly upon financial exigencies.

SWITZERLAND EXPECTS TO BALANCE ITS BUDGET

Berne—Switzerland's budget for 1925 shows a deficit of 15,000,000 francs (Swiss). The government believes that this will be the last year that there will be a deficit. Every budget since the war has shown expenditure in excess of receipts.

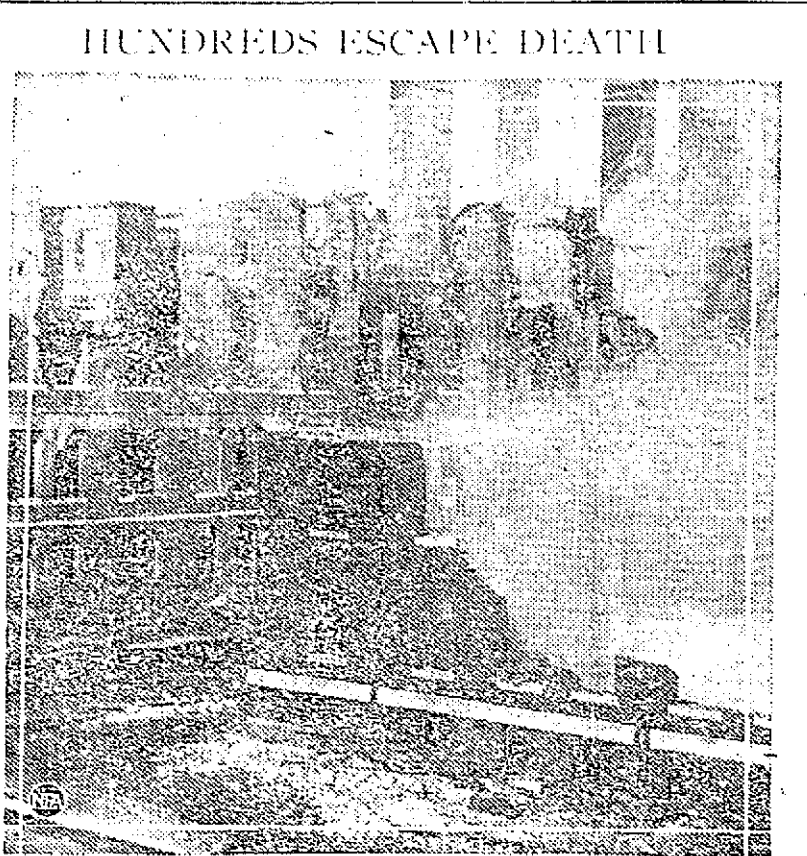

Swiss exports to America for September increased as compared with the previous month, for the consular district of Berne, the increase being $120,000, mostly in cheese and watches, and for the District of Basle, $236,000, chiefly silks and chemicals.

CHINESE CIVIL WAR RESULT OF QUARREL OF FORMER FRIENDS

Chang Tso-Lin and Wu Pei-Fu Were Outstanding Figures in Controversy

By Associated Press
San Francisco — "What's it all about?"

This question was asked by the average newspaper reader who glanced casually at an occasional front page account of the civil war in China. For the benefit of those who are not students of Far Eastern affairs, the following explanatory digest as gleaned from the various news reports of the Chinese situation, is given:

China, with its more than 400,000,000 population, has been in a more or less chaotic state since the overthrow of the Manchu dynasty in 1911 and the formation of the Chinese Republic. Chinese presidents have come and gone, the country has been divided into warring factions headed by "tyrants," or military provincial governors, and a large percentage of the population has been constantly under arms.

General Chang Tso-Lin and General Wu Pei-fu, former friends but now bitter enemies, were the two outstanding figures in the controversy. These two leaders joined forces in 1920 to overthrow the famous Anhui club, a monarchist organization which threatened the new government. With Tsoo Kuo, the last Chinese president, then inspector-general of Chihli, General Chang became the power of Peking.

General Wu permitted things to continue until 1922, when, declaring Chang was establishing a military dictatorship in the capital, he drove the latter back to Manchuria. Chang began at once to build up an army, manufacture munitions and have his officers trained in modern military tactics. For two years China has expected a renewal of hostilities between the two militarists.

Two somewhat inconspicuous tycoons "started the fireworks." In the latter part of last August, General Chi Shieh-yuan, military governor of Kiangsu, apparently with the approval of Tsoo Kuo, attacked the forces of General Lu Yung-hsiang, the Chekiang military governor in control of Shanghai, and, with the aid of General Wu Pei-fu's forces, finally took that city.

In the meantime, General Wu decided it was time to eliminate Chang Tso-Lin and thus bring about a reunification of China. General Chang, the Manchurian "war-lord," decided at about the same time that General Wu should be eliminated. So Chang declared war against the Peking forces and started his army toward Chihli. He met Wu's troops outside the Great Wall and fighting continued for several weeks over a front of many miles. The most sanguinary battles took place not far from Shan-hai-kwan, near the eastern border of Chihli.

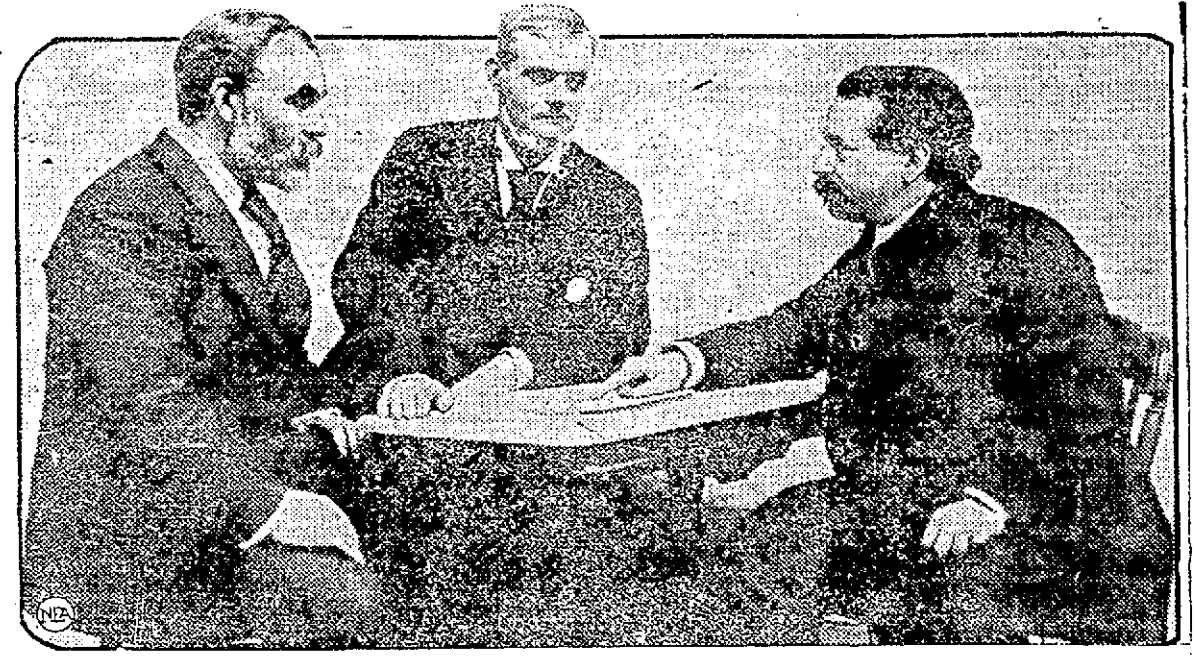

With varying reports of successes coming from the headquarters of both leaders, Feng Yu-hsiang, known as the "Christian General," recently hurled a bombshell into the controversy by appearing at Peking with his troops and announcing that Tsoo Kuo must resign as president. General Wu he banished to Tibet and peace made with Chang Tso-Lin.

General Feng, with the best-equipped and best-equipped troops of the Chihli forces, had been sent to the front to hold back Chang's brigades. Apparently Chang and Feng arrived at an understanding and the next announcement was from Peking, where the "Christian General" had taken control.

All sorts of reports emanated from the capital. It was said General Wu had fled with his troops to Tsingtao, Shantung; that Tsoo Kuo had resigned, that Tuan Chih-fu, the powerful former Anhui leader, would assume charge of the government, and that a real reunification of China would take place.

It later developed that Wu had not fled to Tsingtao. Instead, the Chihli leader and his forces appeared midway between Tientsin and Peking and entrenched preparatory to a battle to oust the "Christian General" from the capital. It appeared Oct. 29 that the feud between Chang and his enemy was far from being settled.

TEST NEW MOTORS ON WESTERN COAST

By Associated Press
Tacoma, Wash.—A new principle in gasoline motors is being tested here on a power boat. The tests are being watched by engineers and others to discover if new era in the history of gas engines is to be marked. The engine under experiment is the invention of three Spokane, Wash., men. It operates on a by-pass valve-injection plan that does away with the need of any valve gear and is designed to produce a cool-running motor of great flexibility. The motor is intended for automobiles, but marine tests are being made also. The specimen under investigation was built on specifications laid down by a group of consulting engineers, after scientific tests had been made at the University of Michigan last year.

LOCUST PLAGUE BRINGS NEW INDUSTRY TO REGION

Bocholt, Germany—A plague of locusts has brought a new industry to this region where the insects have been gathered by the ton and oil extracted from their bodies. The locusts came over the frontier from Holland, by countless billions, and were caught by women and boys with great baskets. The oil is intended for airplane motors and is said to be particularly adaptable for winter flying because it does not congeal in low temperatures. Good, fat locusts retailed at about one fourth of a cent a pound. After the insects passed through the oil extraction process the refuse was used as fertilizer.

UNEARTH WAR HEROES BODIES IN NORFOLK

Virginia City Was Selected by Washington as Capital City of Country

By Associated Press
Norfolk, Va.—The skeletons of three soldiers of General Washington's Revolutionary army, buried nearly a century and a half ago near this camp site which now is a part of Berkeley, a Norfolk suburb, were unearthed several days ago in the yard of a citizen of that place. The bones were exhumed by laborers in digging for a sewer line. Buttons of copper and bronze and other timeworn objects indicated two of the men had been officers and the bones of one showed that he must have been well over six feet in height.

While today there is nothing to indicate the place, now part of a residential section, was once a military burying ground, the skeletons found the other day make a total of six dug up in the same place within the past two years. A citizen of the suburb, J. H. Jones, who is 90 years old, recalls that in his boyhood days his father had pointed out the place as an old camp cemetery used by the forces of Washington. Soldiers buried there, according to the story, fell in the battle of Great Bridge and Money Point.

A monument long has marked the site of the battle of Great Bridge, and Money Point derives its name from an incident that occurred there during the Revolutionary War. It is related that money had been provided for the payment of the troops but before it could be distributed the British made a sudden attack and, fearing its capture, the Americans placed the money in a cannon and dropped it overboard. After the battle, which continued for several days with great fury, efforts to locate the cannon proved futile and the money to this day is supposed to be lying buried in the mud of the Elizabeth River.

During his campaign in this section, then one of the principal ports of entry for the colonies, Washington selected a site almost entirely surrounded by water, thus assuring him against attack except by water. So much impressed was he with the strategic value of his position, according to the story handed down for generations here, that Washington selected his camp as the site for a national capital, even going so far as to select a name for it.

Weather conditions will be controlled with the aid of radio acts in the near future, according to scientists.

Love Secret
Of Every Day
Joys Of Life

BY CYNTHIA GREY

It's true enough that love makes the world go 'round. But it does a lot of odd jobs on the side, too.

Except for love, no velvet hats would be sold in August, no summer straw ones in January. There would be no beauty shops, no dance records, no plots for movies—without love.

There would be no playparks for men in barber shops, no shock haircuts, no hay run on the bald spot.

But for love, the diamonds would still be in the mines at Kimberley, and the pearls in the oysters. The perfume would still be in the roses in Grasse, and the ostrich would wear its own tail feathers.

There would be no reducing diets, no permanent-wave machines, and "Three Weeks" would never have been written.

QUESTIONS ANSWERS

Dear Miss Grey: I am seventeen and am wild about a man of twenty. We don't go around with other girls or boys, as we have been sweethearts for a year. Mother thinks I ought to have other men friends. Is she right?—Josephine.

Of course she's right. You can always count on mother when it comes to your welfare. You are much too young to have a boy friend.

Dear Miss Grey: I am a young married woman and I go out to parties rather often. But I seldom can think of anything to say to keep up my end of the conversation. How can I overcome this?—Jane N.

Look over the daily papers and try to remember the interesting topics in it. Women at this stage of progress are interested in politics and books, and plays particularly. Read up on those things.

Negligee Is Aristocrat
Of Wardrobe, Says Paris

BY HORTENSE SAUNDERS

New York.—The aristocrat of the wardrobe is the negligee, just as the street costume is the proletarian, says Henri Bendel, foremost New York designer.

Bendel finds the greatest satisfaction in designing costumes for women in their hours of ease because he believes the negligee comes nearer expressing the personality of the wearer than any other garment can.

"By what a woman wears on the streets," he says, "a woman betrays the practical side of her nature and her attitude toward established conventions. By her evening gowns she reveals her aspirations and longings and what she really believes she is capable of being—but her negligee tells you what she is."

"This is the one article of attire she wears in the surroundings she has created herself. She has no do's or don'ts to follow."

"She may frankly try to be pretty and alluring and indulge in the frills and furbelows that have been eliminated from all other types of clothes, but which have not been rooted from women's memories or desires."

"She may be colorful or daring in design as she likes."

Bendel believes the negligee has a place in the life of every normal woman, no matter how busy or emancipated she may be, as an escape from the commonplace and the practical.

"The negligee is more important for the business woman than the society woman," he says, "because its femininity, softness and luxurious appeal do much to restore the balance after wrestling with matters that demand application of everything but appearance."

"I saw Bendel's mannequins wearing robes of gold and silver tissue cloth as well as metal brocades, soft silks, crepes, velvets, chiffons and laces of all weights and weaves."

The lines may be as flowing and free as one desires, or the silhouette may be that of the fashionable tube, with the addition of a rope or winged glove or some diaphanous fabric that softens the whole and gives the floating airy look that is so desirable.

"The more severe and tailored street clothes become and the less decoration we permit on evening things, the more ornate negligee will become," he says.

"Negligees and evening gowns are cut from the same materials this season—neither yields to the other in gorgeousness."

"The line may be as flowing and free as one desires, or the silhouette may be that of the fashionable tube, with the addition of a rope or winged glove or some diaphanous fabric that softens the whole and gives the floating airy look that is so desirable."

TOMORROW: Letter from Leslie Prescott to Ruth Burke.

That summer's day in the morning. "Now what do you think these ships could be?"

That summer's day in the morning. "I saw some ships go sailing by."

One summer's day in the morning. And what do you think they looked like then?

Some looked like monks—some looked like men.

But no two were alike—there were ten times ten.

That summer's day in the morning. "These ships were sailing the deep blue sky."

One summer's day in the morning. "The happiest woman in all the world."

THINKING of going into business for yourself? Read the "Business Opportunities" in the classified section. THE CLASSIFIED section is an exceptionally good place to find all kinds of merchandise offers.

EXPANDED OPPORTUNITIES-These are continually fitting through the classified columns.

A Mind That Wills-And A Will That Minds

Say it either way-a mind that wills or a will that minds-it expresses that quality of self-dominance which is one and the same thing as self-advancement.

With a mind which directs an indomitable will-or a will which is constantly controlled by an invincible mind-but one thing more is needed to reach the limits of one's abilities.

And that one thing is the practical list of everyday opportunities presented by the Post-Crescent A-B-C Classified Section.

Favorable buying, selling or renting opportunities galore are placed before you daily-and perhaps best of all from your standpoint are those columns of opportunities to step into a better job than you now occupy.

If you have a mind to read and a will to follow the A-B-C Ads-you are bound to have plenty of material for success.

YOUNG PEOPLE BET ON COLLECTORS IN CHURCH

By Associated Press
Rushden, Eng.-"Gambling is actually carried on in our churches," said the Rev. J. A. Sutherland speaking at a meeting of the Northamptonshire Baptist association.

"During a service it has been known" he declared "that when the two sidesmen were taking the collection, young people in the gallery bet on which of the two would finish first."

NOTICE TO TAXPAYERS.
State of Wisconsin, Outagamie County, City of Appleton.-ss.
P. B. Bachman, as Treasurer of the City of Appleton, to the taxpayers of the said city of Appleton.

Pursuant to and in compliance with section thirteen (13) of Chapter V of the city charter of the City of Appleton, and section 1035 of the statutes of the State of Wisconsin, I hereby notify you and each of you that the tax list or roll for the city of Appleton for the year 1924 is in my hands for collection, and that the taxes charged therein are subject to be collected by seizure and sale of goods and chattels of the person, company or corporation charged with such taxes and assessments.

"The elephant," he said, "the case is different. It was not only a warm tropical animal, but needed a tropical climate."

The flint instruments consist of great hand axes, oval shaped discular implements larger than a man's hand which were probably used for skinning and cutting up large animals and enormous spears of the Paleolithic age. According to Major Wade, the persons who used them had attained a much higher degree of civilization than those of the Neolithic period who followed them.

Major Wade placed the age of his discoveries at 100,000 years, basing his estimate on the depth at which they were found under the gravel of the old bed of the Way River.

Governor Fields recently dedicated the latest addition to Witterspoon college, a gymnasium of rough heavy timber, to reach which, he and his party made much of the journey on mules. The school is located in a pocket between high mountains. The gymnasium was built entirely by the community, situated on Scaumbly Creek, a half mile from its confluence with the Kentucky river.

A nonsectarian institution, an orphanage and two branch schools, it is supported chiefly by the Lafayette Avenue Presbyterian Church, Brookly, Ky. Although one of the best schools in the mountains it is still known virtually as a boarding school.

Twenty-one years ago Harvey S. Murdoch, president, came from Brooklyn to found a college in the mountains. Next year, with completion of the building of high and grade schools, his original purpose will have been achieved.

Animal Remains Give Rise to Opinion of British Archaeologist

By Associated Press
London-England 100,000 years ago was a tropical country in which the inhabitants hunted elephants and other animals of the warmer climates with skillfully made weapons, in the opinion of Major A. G. Wade, the British archaeologist, who has recently made important discoveries in the gravel pits near Farnham, Dorsetshire.

Among the relics brought to the surface were the remains of mammoths, an elephant, woolly rhinoceros and beautifully made flint instruments. The finding of the remains of the mammoth and the rhinoceros has no bearing on the climatic theory, according to Major Wade, who said that both had thick coats and could have lived in a cold climate.

The flint instruments consist of great hand axes, oval shaped discular implements larger than a man's hand which were probably used for skinning and cutting up large animals and enormous spears of the Paleolithic age. According to Major Wade, the persons who used them had attained a much higher degree of civilization than those of the Neolithic period who followed them.

TWO COLLEGES AID WAR ON ILLITERACY IN KENTUCKY HILLS

Students at Berea Work Their Way Through School to Combat Poverty

By Associated Press
Frankfort, Ky.-In the mountainous district of Kentucky are two schools, Berea college, the largest and most widely known mountain school of the South, and Witterspoon college, another large institution but the least known among 269 mountain schools.

The students at Berea work their way, striving to reach, in the professions of law, farming and business. Their expenses are negligible but their means are limited. President William J. Hutchins points out. The enrollment runs as high as 2,735 students, who come from the neighboring mountains.

The system is one of self-support. The faculty has arranged that the students may work half a day and study half a day. While President Hutchins' sons' education cost more than $1,000 a year at Berea university, the students here average $146 annual expenditure. Most of them do not have that much money so they receive faculty loans of $30 each, then work out the remainder of their expenses.

The dedication of the new home economics building brought out the largest body of mountain men and women ever assembled. It was considered a demonstration response to the campaign against illiteracy, one of the features of which was the inauguration of "moonlight schools" for illiterate adults.

Governor Fields recently dedicated the latest addition to Witterspoon college, a gymnasium of rough heavy timber, to reach which, he and his party made much of the journey on mules. MAN ARRESTED FOR DISTURBING PEACE FOUND TO BE THIEF

Wanderer Still Had Check He Stole in Oshkosh Last Summer

Appleton police are holding a man who was picked up by a patrolman at a circus in Oshkosh last summer. Word is awaited from the Oshkosh authorities as to the disposal of the case.

The man, who answers to the name of Ed Klein, seems to be some what unsteady, and the police contemplated turning him over to the county board for an examination until it was learned that Klein had committed a theft. He was taken into custody at the Appleton Machine company Monday for annoying the work men.

His home is said to be in Milwaukee, but he has been roving from town to town. A $100 certificate of deposit on a bank at Winnebago to the credit of Knute Johnson of Leavenworth, the suspicions of the police. When called up by the police Johnson described how this man had accosted him at a small circus in Oshkosh last summer and touched his familiarity.

"Hello, don't you remember me?" he asked. "I used to work in the woods with you." Larson had never worked in a lumber woods. Later when he looked through his pockets he saw that his billbook was missing. It had been removed when Johnson was jostling him, he believed. He immediately asked for a duplicate deposit certificate from the bank and never heard about the other until Klein's arrest.

HEAVY DEMAND FOR CHRISTMAS SONGS

Christmas has its own melodies and songs and in this season Appleton people lay aside the modern tunes and synopses and revive the carols and hymns that commemorate the day. Appleton music stores have had numerous calls for Christmas records, the most popular of which are "Silent Night, Holy Night" and "Adeste Fideles."

Other records that have been requested are "Santa Claus Hides in a Phonograph," "Ring Out Christmas Chimes," "Christmas Songs with Variations" and "Song of Christmas." The popular records at Irving Zuelke Music store and Meyer-Seger Music company have been the following:

Edison — Adeste Fideles, Silent Night and Joy to the World.
Columbia — Silent Night and Christmas Chimes.
Victor — Silent Night, Adeste Fideles, Sing Unto the Lord, Der Tannebaum.
Brunswick — Santa Claus Hides in a Phonograph and Silent Night.
Odeon — Silent Night and O Sacred Festina, Christmas Song With Variations and Songs of Christmas.
Vocalion — Ring Out Christmas Bells and Come All Ye Faithful.

POLYGLOT WAITERS NEEDED IN EUROPE

By Associated Press
London—Swiss hotel waiters, called upon to deal each year with an increasing number of English-speaking tourists, will in the future have an opportunity for a thorough training under famous English masters of the profession while English waiters may have a similar training in Switzerland, under an exchange agreement just made public by the ministry of labor. Two hundred Swiss waiters will be sent to certain approved London and English resort hotels with the definite idea of learning the English language and methods and a similar number of English waiters will be sent to Switzerland. It is possible that all classes of hotel servants, including cooks and chambermaids, will be included in this year's quota.

Appleton Girls Still Pin Hopes On Mistletoe

Old maid may be skeptical of the powerful efficacy of mistletoe, especially when it is suspended from the chandelier over the maid's head, but young maid, old maid and even married women find the magic touch tempting enough to achieve A. G. Koch of the very last girls. Mr. Koch is the original Santa Claus on mistletoe, and this fact is well known to the fair sex. Down in Oshkosh they may call this vegetation a parasite that lives on trees and kills them. They may slip it away in barrels, but not a sprig of the barrel impaled annually by Mr. Koch goes begging for a home. The barrel has arrived.

CITY WILL SURVEY PAVING PROJECTS

County Has Completed Preliminary Work on 1925 Highway Plans

Surveys of the sections of road and streets which are to be concreted next year with state and county aid appropriations have been completed with the exception of those for Cherry and Richmond-sts. It was reported by A. G. Krusewitz, county highway commissioner, at the meeting of the county highway committee Monday forenoon. Surveys for Cherry-st and Richmond-sts will be made by the Appleton engineering department.

Other concrete projects for which surveys have been made are two miles of proposed pavement on highway 16, one-half mile in the village of Black Creek, one-half mile in the city of Seymour, one mile on Draper-

SAMOANS WANT STATUS DEFINED

Pago Pago, American Samoa—The recommendation of Secretary of State Hughes that the sovereignty of the United States be extended over Swain's Island was reported here by radio when President Coolidge sent it to the Senate. It caused surprise, and raised the question of the status of American Samoa.

Swain's Island, known as Olosega to the Samoans, lies north of Samoa. Originally it was a coral atoll and was built up by the energy of the original settlers and their descendants. Many shiploads of earth have been taken from Samoa to build up the small island and it now is very productive in coconuts. Though always connected with Samoa commercially, it had been classed as one of the Tokelau groups of islands belonging to Great Britain.

Leaders among the natives of American Samoa say they want a bill passed by congress defining the status of their country in its relation to the United States. The chiefs of Tutuila have been asking this for 24 years. Thus far the islands are known to congress as "the United States naval station, Tutuila." The naval station is at Pago Pago and the country outside, though styled part of the station for some purposes, has nothing to do with it in other respects, and this had led to confusion.

VIENNA FIRM EVADES BAN ON AUTO EXHIBIT

By Associated Press
Paris—The French Automobile Salon does not admit exhibits from former enemy states. Two years ago when a German firm whose name had been connected with the planes it dropped bombs on London and Paris during the war succeeded in introducing their models under cover of a Dutch house, so great an outcry was raised that the exhibit was withdrawn.

A Vienna firm this year succeeded in using the Salon even if it was unable to show inside the Grand Palace. It rented a summer restaurant in the Champs Elysees, which had closed at the end of the season and showed its models, which were view by many on their way to or from the Salon nearby.

Announcing-- A Christmas Surprise for Our Own Staff

Tonight most stores of Appleton are closed at six o'clock. It is Christmas Eve—just as much a part of the Christmas holiday as Christmas day itself.

Ten years ago Pettibone's took the initiative and closed on Christmas Eve. Happiness resulted as hundreds of family circles thus were made complete. Other stores joined us in this forward step as the years went on.

ANOTHER FORWARD STEP IS INITIATED AT PETTIBONE'S BEGINNING SATURDAY. We will close our doors at six o'clock Saturday evening. We will continue closing at six o'clock on Saturdays thru the winter months for an experimental period.

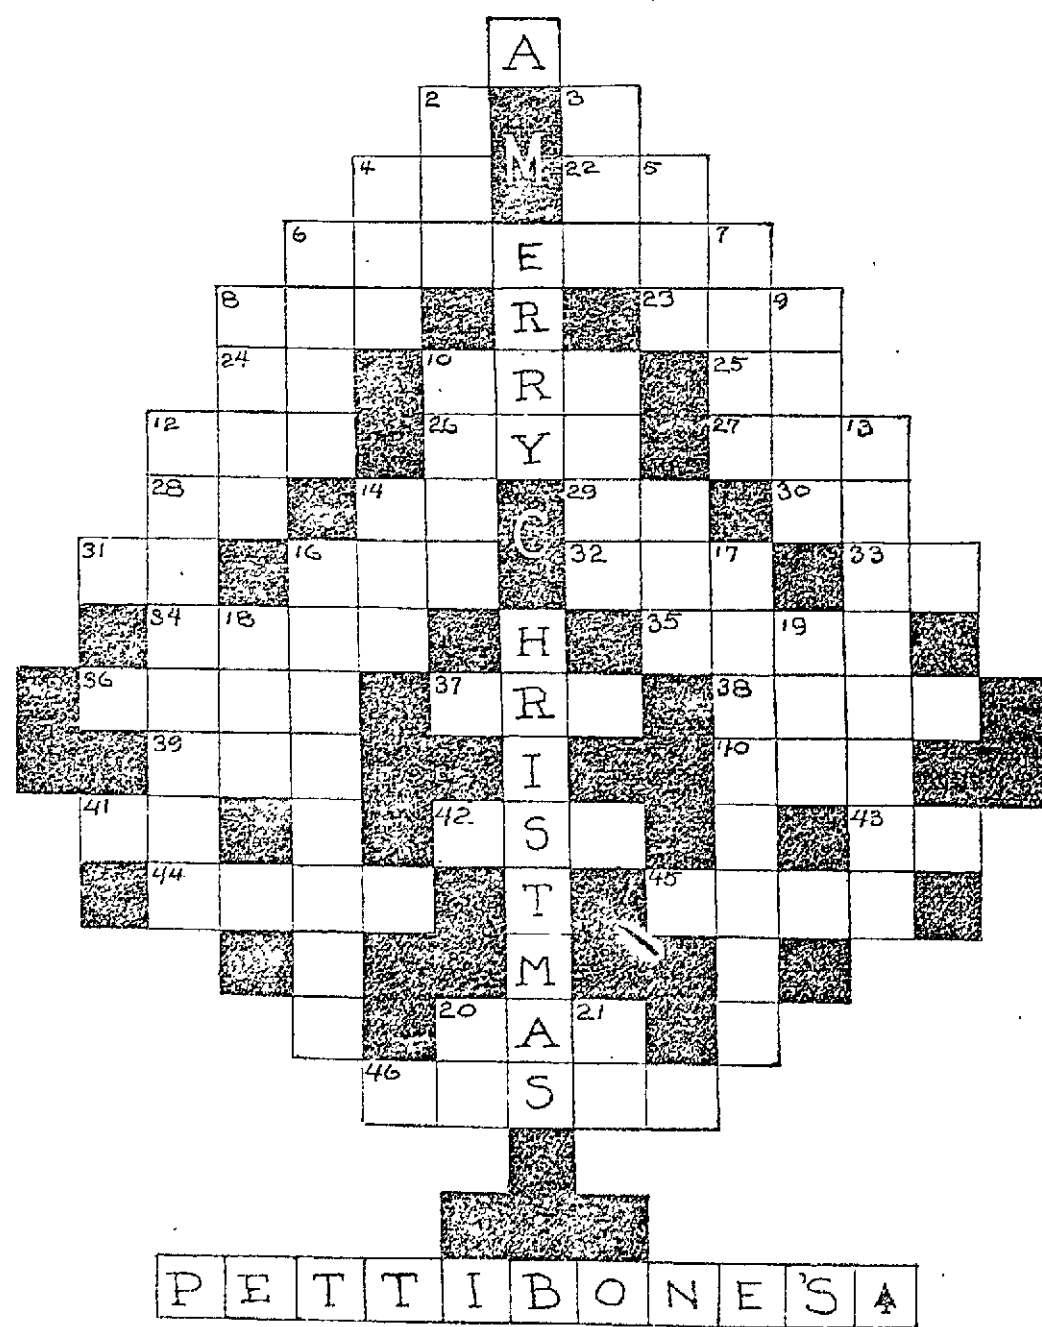

We have invited (and do again invite) our neighbor merchants who employ girls and women to join with us in this movement.

We ask our shopping public, always generous in their response when the cause is just, to cooperate by shopping in the daylight hours.

The true spirit of Christmas, a form of which is a due regard for the inherent rights of those who labor, is exemplified in this closing at six o'clock on Saturdays.
